Pope Asks Vote For Directors

Meeting Set for Sunday Afternoon to Elect Directors for Hamlin Hospital

A called meeting of stockholders of the Hamlin Memorial Hospital association will be held in the Hamlin High School auditorium Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Bowen Pope, secretary, said this week.

Purpose of the meeting, Pope said, is to elect a new board of directors to replace those who were named several weeks ago, but declined to accept the responsibility.

The by-laws of the institution provide for the election of nine directors to the official board.

Pope said in a statement to The Herald Tuesday that the membership of the organization is being notified by postal cards about the meeting and that "the members present at any regular or special meeting constitute a quorum for transacting business."

The hospital was carrying on its work this week without interruption, with Dr. J. F. Hocott and Dr. E. L. Haag continuing in charge of the medical and surgical departments.

Pope said a full-time registered nurse is expected to come here within a few days to serve in the hospital. He said a nurse from Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene has been employed for the position, and the doctors are seeking the services of a second nurse to assist.

A technician for the x-ray room is also being sought, Pope said.

Emphasizing the importance of all stockholders attending the special meeting set for next Sunday, Pope said "Differences of points of view or opinions are granted to each and everyone, but all agree that all progress in community development is gained by cooperation. No one can possibly desire to see our young hospital fail. It must succeed, and many people think it will."

Sylvester Man's Body Is Enroute Home for Burial

The body of Pfc. James F. Herron of Sylvester, is being returned to his home, together with the bodies of 343 other Texans who gave their lives in the recent war, according to an announcement this week by the War Department.

Herron was the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Herron of Sylvester. He was born there February 16, 1925, and spent his boyhood in that community. He attended school at Sylvester and went one term to the High School.

Herron entered the Army November 23, 1944 and was assigned to an infantry company. He landed in Europe May 1, 1945.

A victim of a traffic accident, Herron died when a Jeep in which he was riding overturned in Western Germany October 28, 1945.

He was a member of a Missionary Baptist Church in his community.

Herron's funeral rites will be arranged after his parents are notified of the exact date for arrival of the body in Sylvester, his father said Tuesday.

Herron is survived by his parents, two sisters, Mrs. Robert Morton of Harwell and Meddie Grace Herron of Sylvester; and by two brothers, Clyde and Roy, both of Sylvester.

Mrs. Harvey Named Manager of Store

Mrs. O. G. Harvey has been appointed manager of the Thomas Sylte Shoppe, and assumed her duties last Thursday, when Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thomas, owners, left for Abilene to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas bought the Sylte Shoppe from Mrs. Eula Carter early in September.

Mrs. Harvey has had much experience in retail merchandising, and has been employed in several stores in Hamlin.

John Irwin, who recently left Hamlin to make his home in Junction, Colorado, is here this week on business.

It's outlaw against outlaw in the tussle shown above. Convicts, entered as contestants in the annual prison rodeo at Huntsville are shown milking a wild mare. The dates for the rodeo are October 3, October 10, 13, 17, 24 and 31. Some of the wildest stock ever assembled in the Southwest is being used in the rodeo.

Pipers Take Rest; Roscoe Tilt Next

Hamlin Held Strong Anson Tigers to 6-0 Win in Game Here Last Friday

After four weeks of hard-fought games, in which Hamlin Pipers won one game, lost one and tied one, the grid team will take a rest this week with no contest slated.

The Pipers dropped a game to the strong Anson Tigers last Friday in the local field by the slim margin of one touchdown. The score was 6 to 0.

Charles Pearce of the Tigers carried the ball across the stripe for the winning counter. He received the ball on a 35-yard pass from Mayne in the second quarter. The try for an extra point failed.

The Pipers after their week's rest, will swing into action again next Friday when the Roscoe eleven will come here for the first conference game of the year.

The two teams are said to be well matched in playing prowess this year, and each has a percentage of 375 in games won for the season.

Like the Pipers, Roscoe suffered a defeat in last Friday's game when the Winters Blizzards won 26 to 12. Following are standings for the teams of District 6-A, prior to this week's contests:

Hamlin Nazarenes to Join in Anniversary

The Hamlin Church of the Nazarene will join Sunday in the worldwide celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Nazarene organization, according to the pastor, Rev. Howard Smith.

The formation of the present group took place at Pilot Point, in October, 1908, Smith said. At that time there were 16,000 members scattered in 228 widely separated congregations. The Sunday School department had an enrollment of 6,000 and total gifts for the year were $140,000.

"After 40 years the Church of the Nazarene has grown to 210,000 members in 3,350 churches. The Sunday School enrollment has increased to 400,000 and gifts to all purposes are more than $44,000,000 annually."

Rev. Smith said the public is invited to attend services honoring the anniversary.

Miss Lottie Hines of Fort Worth visited in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hines and other relatives here this week. She has been on a vacation trip to Carlsbad Caverns New Mexico, and will return to Fort Worth next week.

Doctors said Inzer had been working too hard and was in a state of almost complete exhaustion. His condition was reported "unchanged from the time of his admission."

Frank Waggoner, a close friend of the stricken man, and Mrs. Inzer accompanied him to Dallas.

No Patients in Week For Hamlin Hospital

No patients have been admitted to the Hamlin Memorial Hospital during the past week, except Mrs. D. A. McCoy, who gave birth to a boy Wednesday morning, according to Bowen Pope.

Not only has the hospital failed to admit anyone, Pope said, but there have been no discharges from the institution during the past seven days.

A talk by Wilks Curry of Haskell was featured at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Hamlin Lions Club, which met in the Morgan House.

Curry discussed the meaning of Lionism and told members what is required to make a good member of the service club. He gave a brief demonstration to illustrate the value of cooperation and teamwork.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Alexander, former residents of Abilene, have moved to Hamlin to make their home. Alexander is employed by the Hamlin Sand & Gravel Company.

No Money Quota Set in Campaign for Funds; 200 Members Is Goal of Drive

With no definite quota set for the fund campaign, a "kick-off" breakfast will be held in Hamlin next Tuesday morning, when business and civic leaders will inaugurate the annual drive for money to carry on Boy Scout work in Hamlin.

The breakfast here is one of many to be held throughout the Chisholm Trail Council's territory Tuesday morning. A radio program, broadcast over KDWT in Stamford and KRBC in Abilene will be heard simultaneously by all of the breakfasters. Nib Shaw, Abilene civic leader, is chairman for the council.

Breakfasts will be held not only in Hamlin, but in Winters, Coleman, Baird, Albany, Anson, Stamford, Haskell, Rule, O'Brien, Merkel, Cross Plains and Clyde.

The general solicitation program is expected to be completed in the one day's intensive drive, according to Joe Culbertson, chairman of the campaign in Hamlin.

The breakfast here will take place at 6:45 and invitations have been issued to all men who are interested in the work being done by Boy Scouts to attend.

Purpose of the campaign, according to J. Cleo Scott, local minister, and an active participant in scout affairs, is to obtain at least 200 persons who will contribute each month during the coming year to the program.

The budget for the Chisholm Trail Council has been set at $32,650, Culbertson said.

The Chisholm Trail Council comprises the counties of Jones, Haskell, Shackelford, Callahan, Coleman, Taylor and the north half of Runnels.

"The two chief aims of the campaign," Culbertson said Wednesday, "are to enlist more boys in scouting and to finance the program properly for the year."

County Schools Receive $19,521 For Bus Service

Jones County schools have received the final payment of $19,521 for transportation expenses for last fiscal year, according to County Superintendent Everett Beaver.

Beaver also announced that the lunch rooms operated in all except one school are receiving two additional allotments of food from the federal government and that a safety inspection of all school buses has been completed recently. A deputy state superintendent will inspect the elementary schools of the county on October 11 and 12.

The final transportation payment for last fiscal year was late in arriving, Beaver said, and there are still a few minor adjustments to be made in payments to some of the schools.

The food received for distribution to lunch rooms of the county includes 15 cases of honey and 61 sacks of Irish potatoes.

A highway patrolman inspected the school buses and some of them are being given recommended adjustments to comply with the state safety requirements.

The state's inspection of all accredited rural elementary schools will be made by Clive Pierce, who will be accompanied by Beaver on the visit to all schools of that class. Pierce will score the schools for state rating. Later in the school year the independent and common district high schools will be visited, Beaver said.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. McCrory have returned to Hamlin after a trip to Galveston. They were accompanied as far as Houston by Mrs. D. O. Sauls, who visited relatives there.

County SCS Field Day Scheduled for April 12, 1949; Organization Set Up

Plans for a Jones County Soil Conservation Service field day to be held next spring were discussed at a meeting of agricultural agency directors, vocational agriculture teachers, representatives of Chambers of Commerce and the Jones County farm agent in Anson last Tuesday evening.

Tentative date for the field day has been set for Tuesday April 12. R. R. Kelley of the Rule-Jayton Cotton Oil Mill of Stamford was elected chairman of the arrangements meeting. Kelley said committees and their members will be named from time to time as planning for the event progresses.

It is probable that plans for the day will include a conducted tour of farms in the county where soil conservation practices have been adopted. However, some members of the group urged that the program be held in one location with side trips arranged to demonstrate the various practices. A free meal will be served at noon, it was decided.

Members of the program committee appointed by Kelley are: H. C. Stanley, Jones County agent, chairman; M. T. Turner, E. C. Gainous, T. C. Blankenship, L. E. Dooley, Hugh Majors and P. C. Wiley.

The program committee began its work Wednesday, October 6, in a meeting in the Anson Chamber of Commerce office.

Publicity committee members are: Jack Norman, manager of the Stamford Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. E. M. Wilson, manager of the Hamlin Chamber of Commerce and James C. Hestand, manager of the Anson Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the steering committee are: Kelley, M. T. Turner of the SCS, Stamford; Ed Schwartz, Veterans Vocational School, Stamford; E. C. Gainous, manager Jones County ACA, Anson; L. E. Dooley, Vocational Agriculture director, Anson; Jimmy Love, coordinator Jones County Veterans Vocational Schools, Anson; C. F. Simpson, SCS, Hawley; Jim McCulloch, Stamford; T. C. Blankenship, Vocational Agriculture director, Hamlin; C. A. Williams, Stamford; P. B. Moore Jr., Hamlin; Jack Norman, Stamford; Mrs. E. M. Wilson, Hamlin; James C. Hestand, Anson and H. C. Stanley, Anson.

Further announcements will be made as plans for the program are completed, Kelley said.

Mighty Mice Suffer First Defeat in Two Years; Meet Rotan Here Thursday

Smarting under the sting of a one-point defeat—the first they had suffered in two seasons of play—the Hamlin Mighty Mice prepared this week for a contest on the home field Thursday night, when they were slated to face the Rotan Juniors.

The Mice bowed before the Stamford Junior Bulldogs by the narrow margin of a 14-13 score in a game at Stamford last Thursday night.

The Stamford Juniors emerged from the game still unbeaten for the season.

In the first quarter Keith Miles for the Bulldogs carried the ball across the line for the first score of the game. Kelley hit the line for the extra point to give the Bulldogs a 7-0 lead over the Mice.

The lead, however, was short lived when the Mice retaliated with a touchdown and kicked the extra point to tie the score 7-7.

second to bring the tally to 14-7 in favor of Stamford.

The Mice started a strong drive to even the count and netted another touchdown, but the try for conversion proved a failure and the two teams battled it out, surging back and forth across the field for the entire last half with neither team able to tally.

Coach John Howel has been drilling his squad ruthlessly this week to get it in shape for the Rotan game, and he said Wednesday that fans who attend will be assured of witnessing a fighting aggregation of Hamlin boys.

ATTEND DALLAS PLAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate May and Mrs. J. W. Ezell of Hamlin and Mrs. J. Frank Johnson of Rotan attended the musical comedy Oklahoma in Dallas last Thursday evening.

Who Wants Security?

A favorite verbal football of politicians for the last dozen or more years has been the topic of security. They have waxed eloquent in describing a nation in which "three fourths of the citizens are ill housed, ill-clothed and ill-fed."

The subject of security has been discussed to such an extent by those who devise all sorts of maudlin schemes to win votes that many people have come to regard it is a desirable goal in life—something like an assurance of Heaven.

Actually free people never have sought security—at least not the kind guaranteed by some gigantic federal bureaucracy. The only social security that is worth while and that appeals to the fundamental ideals of democracy within all of us is that wrought by our own hands and fashioned by our own efforts.

It was not security that those intrepid colonists were seeking when they braved the wrath of the turbulent Atlantic and sailed away from the despot-ridden lands of Europe in search of new homes. It was not security, but liberty.

It was not security that motivated Washington and Jefferson and Franklin and Hamilton and their compatriots in declaring that "these United States are of a right, and ought to be free and independent states." It was not security they sought, but freedom.

The most secure people—in an economic sense—that the world knows today inhabit cells in Huntsville and other prisons throughout the country. They are not "ill-housed, ill-fed and ill-clothed." They have shelter and food and clothing and recreation and jobs. But there is not a single one who would not willingly change all of his "security" for the privilege of walking erect as a free man, with the right of choice and decision.

As a class the Negro slaves in pre-Civil War days knew the ultimate of security. They had no worries about food and clothing and medical attention. But deep within the hearts of these people there burned the fierce fires of freedom. They had security, but they wanted liberty.

A long time ago it was recorded in the Bible that God proclaimed "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread," and that Divine injunction cannot be changed by the enactment of social orders nor by the advent of any so-called security schemes.

While everyone believes in laws to protect the weak and helpless and those who are unable to provide for themselves, yet it is fundamentally un-American to support legislation which would serve to reward indolence and to penalize thrift and hard work.

With each addition to our already voluminous social security setup will come an additional army of officious bureaucrats who are not producers, but leeches upon the public purse. Slowly, but surely this crowd of termites is eating away at the sturdy foundations of our democracy, and unless checked, they will effect the downfall of self-government in our nation and open the way for dictatorship.

Unless we have the right to know hunger we cannot enjoy the blessings of food; unless we have the right and the opportunity to know cold, shelter and warmth will cease to appeal to us as desirable goals.

After all mankind is more than an organism; mankind is more than an animal. Man is not only physical being, he is as well a spiritual entity, capable of self-determination and possessed of initiative and ambition.

When the day comes—which seems to be coming—that bureaucrats have us completely regimented, America will have ceased to be a land of liberty and will degenerate into a nation of automatons, controlled by the whims of politicians.

Instead of a government which guarantees food and shelter and clothing to its citizens, all any freeman should ask is a government that protects his right to work and to plan and to make progress, free from the meddling of theorists who themselves would starve to death were they not subsidized by public taxation.

The goal of Americans has always been individual freedom and the right of self-determination. May God keep that shining goal ever before us and prevent us from becoming sidetracked by the chimerical promises of insincere demagogues. It is not security we seek, but liberty.

Today 80 per cent of the land on the nation's farms is plowed by tractors. In the case of wheat, oats and other small grains, 90 per cent of the seeding and harvesting is done with oil-powered equipment.

The first successful newspaper in the colonies was started with permission of the royal governor of Massachusetts in 1704.

Pensions Hiked As U. S. Funds Are Increased

Checks for old age assistance, aid to the needy blind and aid to dependent children in Texas will be increased approximately $2 each for the month of October, it was announced this week by LaRue B. McFarland, field worker for Jones County.

The increase came when the last session of congress passed a bill to increase federal participation in the pension program. Under the new formula the federal government provides 64 per cent and the state furnishes 36 per cent of the pension cost.

If the federal funds had not been made available McFarland said, it would have been necessary to cut pension payments from $2 to $3 for each person.

A minimum of $50 has been set for old age assistance pensioners and aid to the needy blind. In the dependent children program the new schedule calls for payment of $27 for the first child in a family, and $18 for each additional child.

A total of 207,143 persons received old age assistance checks for the month of September. The checks averaged $31.57. Average payment to the needy blind were $38, and the average payment for needy children during September was $13.08.

It is anticipated that $65,000,000 will be distributed to old age assistance pensioners during the fiscal year, 1949, McFarland said. Of this amount the federal government will pay $55,000,000 and the state will pay $10,000,000, which is all that was appropriated by the legislature for this purpose.

VETERANS NEWS

Dependents of deceased World War II veterans who get death compensation checks from the VA will receive individual reminders of their possible entitlement to income tax refunds, and of the necessity for applying for them before the end of the year, VA reports.

The refunds, authorized by Public Law 367 of the 80th Congress, apply to certain income taxes of members of the armed forces who died while in active service between December 7, 1941 and December 31, 1947. Application must be made by December 31, 1948.

Subject of refund under the law are all Federal income taxes paid by or on behalf of such members of the armed forces for the taxable year in which they died, and for prior tax years dating back to December 7, 1941, during any part of which they served. Most members of the armed forces—particularly enlisted men—were exempt from income tax under special wartime law.

Consequently, the number entitled to rebates is not expected to be large, and the VA notice advises dependants first to make sure taxes actually were paid before seeking refunds.

Forms for applying may be obtained from the office of any collector of internal revenue (Form 843). Applications for refunds and any correspondence on the subject also should be directed to the Collector of Internal Revenue where the tax was paid, and not to VA or the Bureau of Internal Revenue in Washington, D. C.

Camp Fire Girls, Bluebirds Organized In Hamlin; Leaders to Meet in Stamford

Reactivation of the Camp Fire Girls and Bluebirds, the junior organization, in Hamlin was effected in a meeting held in the elementary School Cafeteria Monday afternoon at 3:45.

The meeting was in charge of Miss Kathleen Crawford of Stamford, area executive for the West Texas area. The Camp Fire Girls and Bluebirds first were organized in Hamlin about a year ago, but have not been very active during the past year.

Mrs. Uckert of near Hamlin was named leader of the organization, and will be assisted by the following women: Mrs. Don Gould, Mrs. Paul Wick and Mrs. Connally for girls 7 to 8; Mrs. Bert Fomby, Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Cecil Brown for girls 9 years of age.

Sponsors of the movement are Mrs. Kenneth Parker, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Shivers.

The Monday meeting was attended by 20 mothers of Hamlin and the surrounding area, and about 25 children, ages 7 to 12, were also present.

A meeting will be held in Stamford next Thursday, October 14, when leaders will be given a short course of training in their duties and will be told the best methods to use in creating an effective organization here.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(The Hamlin Herald is glad to publish letters from readers on any subject, and will print them without deletion provided they do not violate laws of libel and rules of good taste. The opinions expressed in letters published here are not necessarily those of the paper.)

To the Editor:

After reading Mr. Pope's letter concerning the Hamlin Memorial Hospital and it being built in memory of our service men, I would like to submit the following:

I have been a resident of Hamlin for the past six months because of the illness of my mother. In that time I was a patient in the Hamlin Hospital. The service rendered me at that time by your doctors and their assistants was as good as I have ever received in any hospital. I have had 12 years experience in hospitals, some being among the largest in Texas, working with many doctors and doctors of all ages. It was my privilege also to serve four years during the war with the Camp and Hospital Council of Central Texas, servicing seven government hospitals, including McClosky General, McClusky Annex, and six prison camp hospitals.

My experiences were many. The hospital doctors are young but they are very capable and sincere and were also service men. They not only want to help make the hospital a monument to service men but to Hamlin and Jones County.

They also are building a never forgotten future for themselves and their families. It is my belief that a doctor is an ambassador of God, and if God has ever showered special blessings on people, He has the Hamlin people. It is shown every day in the generous love and friendship to each other.

We should all be loyal to our family doctors. You can do this and still be loyal to any civic movement that is a betterment for your

FIRELESS RECORD FOR HAMLIN IS BROKEN BY TRASH FIRE AT 64 DAYS

After 64 days without a run of the Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department, the truck was called out at 9 o'clock Thursday morning to put out a trash fire that threatened to get out of control, according to Mickey McGuire, chief.

The trash fire was in the rear of the Ava Hudson home, and no

property damage resulted from the blaze, McGuire said.

"With high winds and the dry condition of weeds and grass, there is danger of a serious fire resulting from the burning of trash," McGuire warned. He urged all residents to take extreme caution in burning their trash to prevent costly destruction of property.

"However," he said, "don't fail to call the Fire Department at once community and the growing generation.

Deaf ears should be turned against idle and malicious gossip. I am not a subscriber to the hospital, however, I am sincere in saying I would like to see this hospital remain the Hamlin Memorial Hospital and fulfill its need in this community.

Sincerely,
Nettie B. Williams

Fletcher graduated from Abilene Christian College following his graduation from Hamlin, and is now song director for the Preston Roads Church of Christ in Dallas. E. R. Harper of Abilene will preach in the meeting.

Cotton Market Shows Weakness In Exchanges

Cotton trading picked up last week in Oklahoma and Texas, but failed to match the activity of the corresponding week last year the Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, reported.

Sales continued rather small for this time of the year at the nation's 10 spot markets, where only 254,600 bales exchanged hands last week. Dallas, Houston and Galveston sold 57,696 bales of this grand total, an increase of 13 per cent over the previous week.

Demand improved among Oklahoma shippers last week for strict low middling and better, ranging in staple length 13-16 inch to 1-1-16 inch. Also, there was some demand for low middling 7-8 inch staple.

Inquiries from domestic and export shipments were fairly numerous but prices offered were not attractive. Most current buying is for the purpose of filling previous commitments.

Reports to USDA indicated farmers are selling a good part of current earnings well above loan values in some sections.

Spot cotton prices fluctuated within a narrow range last week. The basis weakened in the Dallas market but remained about unchanged in the Houston and Galveston markets.

Spot cotton prices for middling 15-16 inch averaged 31.22 cents per pound last Thursday at the 10 chief markets. This was about $2.50 per bale higher than the loan rate, and $3.20 per bale higher than the price on the corresponding day last year.

Doctor Urges Care in Prevention of Colds; Cites Danger of Infection

Sudden seasonal changes in the weather during the fall months of ten result in chilling which in turn is usually followed by wide-spread incidence of the common cold. This disease always spreads rapidly because the fact that very few people can live isolated lives and in any group or crowd of people coughing, sneezing and spitting will scatter millions of cold germs among susceptible persons.

Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, says there are countless ways of spreading a cold other than by coughing, sneezing and spitting. "For instance," the doctor said, "if a member of your family has a cold and the other members share a common drinking glass with him, you may expect the whole family to pick up the germs he leaves on the glass. Sometimes a person with a cold thoughtlessly touches his mouth or nostrils with his hand, and then shakes hands with another person. That person can, and very likely will, contaminate his own mouth or nostrils with his hand, and the germs are transmitted into his system. A child with a cold may contaminate his toys, and the next child that picks them up and plays with them will certainly obtain the cold germs, along with the toys."

Children, as well as adults, who are suffering from a cold should be put to bed, and if complete rest, light food, and plenty of liquids do not improve his condition in short time, the family physician should be called.

Dr. Cox further advised that dressing properly for the weather, sensible eating, plenty of rest, and avoiding persons with colds can be helpful in preventing your own infection. Colds are costly in time, health and money, the doctor said, and added, "Prevent them if possible."

All members of the Red Cross are invited to attend the meeting and participate in business matters that will come up for discussion.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

The Galapagos tortoises are desert dwellers in their native islands and do not care for water.

High School Debaters Begin Forensic Study

High school debate teams in Texas schools began study and research this week on the question to be discussed in their forensic tilts.

The question is: Resolved, that the State of Texas should increase the severance tax on its natural resources.

Last year approximately 3,000 teams participated in the debate on arbitration of labor disputes in major industries.

Fire Is Labeled Public Enemy No. 1 In State as Well as Whole Country

The most dangerous "red" in Texas has been under investigation by the state for years, Marvin Hall, fire insurance commissioner, said this week.

Hall accused this "enemy" with the deaths of 200 Texans, the torturing of twice that number and the destruction of nearly $15,000,000.

in property since January of this year.

He declared this No. 1 foe to be fire.

"Last year fire caused the greatest destruction in the history of the nation as well as in Texas," Hall stated. "Nearly 700 million dollars in property went up in flames in the United States and over 22 million was lost in our state."

Texas is breaking that record this year by a slight edge. Through August of this year our losses totaled $14,777,90. During the same period last year they reached $14,287,000. For the whole year of 1948 losses were $8,813,945.

Fire took 557 lives in Texas in 1947, not including the Texas City disaster figures. About 11,000 people were burned to death in the United States last year.

"These figures do not include the suffering of the maimed and injured that total twice the number of the deaths from fire," Hall remarked, the "wasted" use of valuable materials to rebuild businesses and homes, the paychecks lost from work being burned-out or the higher insurance rates to make up for excessive losses.

"Over 85 per cent of our fires are preventable. If the people of Texas remove fire hazards, study the things that cause fires, then observe safety practices, our losses could be at least cut in half."

"Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9, is the best time to start cutting down fire losses. The twin objective of the Week are to rid our homes and communities of hazards and to focus attention on the careless habits which take such a high toll of life and property."

Farm Income in Plains Area Is Down For Summer; Rest of State Increased

Texas farm cash income rose 13 per cent from July to August, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

Increased sales of cotton and livestock pushed August income 36 per cent above a year earlier to $185,787,000.

Cotton sales, totaling $87,340,000, was the greatest source of farm income in August 1948. Income from cattle totaled $27,634,000, for second place.

Southern Texas Prairies' income totaled $44,286,000, the highest farm income in August, as marketings of cotton, grain sorghums, and cattle stepped up from a month earlier. Farm income in Coastal Prairies, totaling $31,984,000, was second, reflecting higher sales from cotton, cattle and rice.

Farm income more than doubled from July to August in Coastal Prairies, Black and Grand Prairies, East Texas Timbered Plains and Southern Texas Prairies. On the other hand, sharp declines from July occurred in Northern High Plains, 74 per cent; Red Bed Plains, 61 per cent; Lower Rio Grand Valley, 35 per cent; and Southern High Plains, 33 per cent.

Except for decreases in Northern High Plains, South Texas Plains, and Southern High Plains, all districts reported farm income above August 1947. August income tripled year earlier levels in Black and Grand Prairies and doubled in East Texas Timbered Plains and Coastal Prairies.

For the first eight months of 1948, farm income reached $880,629,000, or five per cent under a like period in 1947.

Don't fiddle around any longer with dirty old summer motor oil. Swing your car into the nearest Conoco station and change to winter-grade Nth Motor Oil.

Lighter winter-grade Nth gives you faster starts. Saves you wear on the battery when you step on the starter.

What's more, a change to Conoco Nth Motor Oil gives you the extra protec-

50 Men Have Been Classified for Draft in County

Fifty men have been classified by the draft board of Jones, Haskell and Shackelford counties. The job of mailing questionnaires will be stepped up after this week, Mrs A A Dunwoody, clerk of the board, said this week.

James Hestand, Anson Chamber of Commerce manager, has been approved as advisor to Jones County registrants and will assist men who need help in filling out their questionnaires.

Questionnaires have been mailed to most of the single men born in 1922, 1923, 1924, and 1925. A number of them have already been returned to the Anson office. The clerks were busy last week in correcting minor errors in registration cards preparatory to completing the mailing of questionnaires to the older groups.

No quotas have been received by the board, as yet, and no information on the induction dates has been given. However, the national schedule indicates that the first call for trainees from Texas will be in November.

MOVE TO HAMLIN.

Mr and Mrs C M Abbott, formerly of Brownwood, have moved to Hamlin to make their home. Abbott is a gauger for the Humble Pipeline Company. Mrs. Abbott is the former Winnie Mae Graham of Hamlin. The Abbotts will occupy a house on Park Street.

WALKIE-TALKIE STATIC

The FCC announces that it is about ready to license individuals for walkie-talkie. Quantity production of these radio contrivances is near. It would appear that it is not only going to be hard to get off by yourself and away from everybody, but almost impossible.

People with walkie-talkies strapped on them can communicate with one another over fairly long distances and we fear the worst.

The wife who had to wait until he got home to supper now can start talking to her husband on the fourteenth hole, down at Gilligan's bar or even when he is in a rowboat fishing under the tin bridge. And a husband can crash right through into any cocktail party or bridge game where the wife is hiding out.

Junior's happiness will be limited further. Just as he reaches the old swimmin' hole, mom can demand by walkie-talkie, "Where are you and what are you doing?"

Everybody will be able to start gabbing with somebody else on a mere whim. Talk is going to be not only cheap but unavoidable. (It might be wise to ration it.)

The fellow who invented radio started something. And the finish is getting pretty hectic. There was a time when a man's home was his castle, but it has been a communication bureau for a quarter of a century. The "hush of the fireside" is extinct. But up to now the old man could hide out behind the barn or execute a runout by sneaking off to watch the excavations for the new chain grocery.

There is some comfort in knowing that the FCC will require walkie-talkie addicts to have a license. This will limit the talking somewhat. But what will be the punishment if a fellow talks without a license? Will he have his right to scuttle-butt suspended for 30 days?

The walkie-talkie is expected to be of great help in operating a farm or ranch. The Lone Ranger, we take it, no longer will be lonely. He will have all the privacy of a man engaged in an open debate in Madison Square garden.

Heigh ho, Silver!

Are ya listenin'?

Special Delivery Service

A new stamp in memory of Babe Ruth is proposed. This department suggests that it be a special delivery stamp, as something is desperately needed that will lift such letters over the fences of snafu in our postal department, especially in the matter of special delivery, for which the higher rates are asked.

To cover up shortcomings in the special delivery service, the postmaster general recently ordered that important recordings of the delivery be abandoned. It is now almost impossible to trace their course with accuracy. This department recently mailed two letters special delivery at a cost of 19 cents each. One of them got through in good time; the other hasn't arrived yet.

Ever since the post office issued that new chicken stamp it seems to Elmer Twitchell that the post office pens have more feathers in them.

The U. N. discloses that while all the other nations to whom we loaned billions in World War I now have scratched the debts from their ledgers, the United States still carries them on our balance sheet. Washington still believes in good fairies and forlorn hopes, regardless of the expense.

Axis Sally, a young woman who broadcast for Hitler and told U. S. soldiers they were fools for fighting, is back in this country on treason charges. But the present picture in this country being so cockeyed, it would not surprise us if she ran on a political ticket, denounced congress, defied questioners and charged that proceedings against her were a red herring.

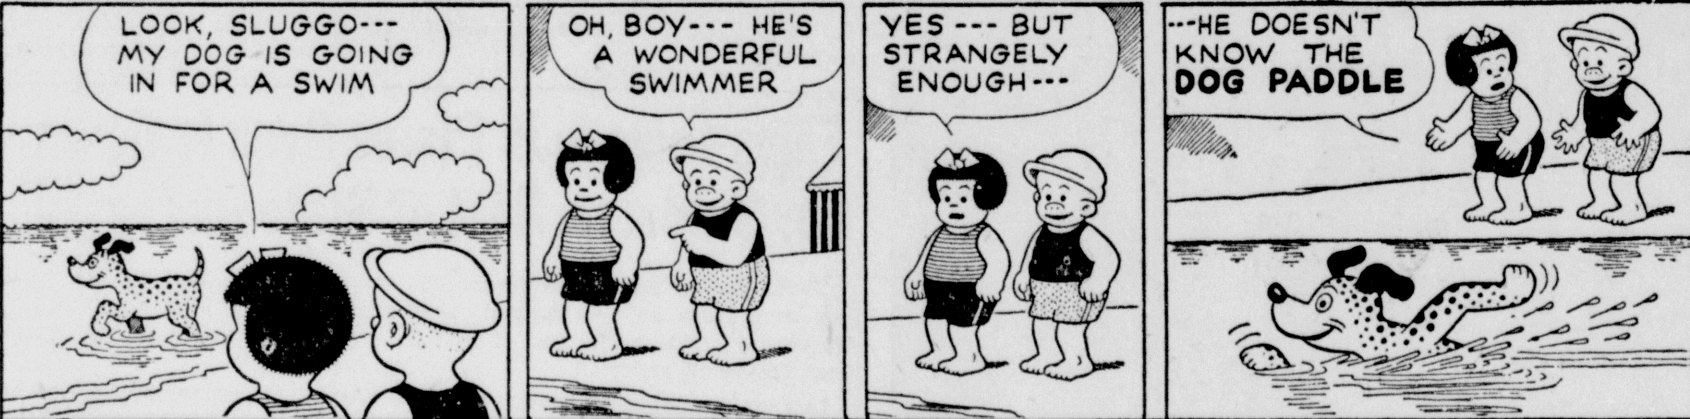

It strikes this department that if congressional committees really intend to concentrate in a serious way on identifying everybody in Washington who lied in the last 14 years, the exposures will have to take place in Yankee stadium.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Pure Family Love

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"ALL the families in your books have one characteristic," writes Nadine Carter, a very modern young woman who does a weekly book-review column for a Pennsylvania newspaper. "Whatever your people are, rich or poor, Irish or American, they all love each other and are sympathetic and cooperative, having such fun doing dishes and being poor! Have you actually ever known a family like that? I haven't. We weren't fighters in our family, but we all had our separate interests and grudges and we all—that is my sister and I, got out of home young, lived downtown and married. My parents were divorced when we were babies and my mother had a son by a second marriage; he's all right now, but he was a regular pest as a small boy.

"I myself am divorced, with a little girl to raise," the letter goes on. "I'm not unhappy, and not happy, but my three-room home isn't that haven of delight that all your homes are, in your books. Most real homes aren't full of affection and loyalty and service; all of yours are. Now here is your latest book on my table and what can I say of it except that it paints an ideal that I never knew any home to reach, and don't think any homes do!"

This half-whimsical and half-impatient criticism would have hurt me once. But now it only makes me a little sad. For if this clever young woman really has grown to maturity without ever knowing what a real home is, she has been robbed of something that no later years can replace.

High Ideals Predominate.

In answer to her I can only say that there are thousands of homes—hundreds of thousands of them—in this fortunate country of ours, where children are raised to high ideals of service and duty, and where family love is developed as naturally as young minds and bodies are. There are countless good fathers and good mothers, who live only for home and children, who maintain high ideals of personal behavior themselves, and live to see that fineness reflected in their children's lives.

There are good mothers. . . .

There is no happiness in the whole world like the happiness in a good home. There is no service any man or woman can do for their children, for their community, for their country and for their God, compared to developing in their children the characters, the minds and souls that make good citizens.

Love doesn't come naturally to children. It has to be cultivated; nothing about a fine home atmosphere is an accident. There must be someone guiding, smoothing, helping. When father and mother are working on this plan, the ideal home results.

Children Need Guidance.

America's story is full of the goodness of book-loving, family-loving, Godfearing fathers, and of mothers who have brought actual genius to the guidance of children; guidance disguised under happy everyday living, in the garden, the kitchen, the school, the nursery.

Family love and home happiness are not merely pleasant than quarrels and coldness and separation, they are absolutely essential to the safety of a nation. Men and women who can look back to a home-protected childhood are valuable men and women. Nothing that your sacrificing or your wealth or your ingenuity can give your children is worth anything at all, unless behind it is the atmosphere that develops mutual dependence and mutual help.

Most of this atmosphere is created by mother. If you happen to be Mother, it might console you, in these difficult, extravagant days to realize that you can give your children a priceless heritage at no money cost at all. The heritage of a harmonious and happy home.

Snoring Is Legal Even at Expense of Your Neighbor

LOS ANGELES.—It's perfectly legal to snore, even if it keeps the neighbors awake, according to the ruling of Byron Gentry, deputy city prosecutor.

The weighty problem was handed him by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson E. Carr, who complained that a neighbor in their apartment snored so loudly that it constituted a disturbance of peace. Gentry ruled that the snoring was not malicious.

DOLL FOR LUCK

By GENE GILBERT

PALMER soared through the sky with a light heart. He was leaving a hard life behind, years of and-to-mouth existence, years of depending on occasional charter trips and the students able to pay the high rates on his big machine. The future opened before him: He would get a new ship, one of those long-range, all metal jobs, go in for long-distance competitive races. And he would have a swell-looking girl with a pile of dough to pay the bills.

He glanced at the instrument board, saw that everything was all right. The cabin ship roared steadily over Connecticut at four thousand feet. There were scattered clouds beneath him, but not enough to hide the ground. His luck was breaking right for the first time, just right. Reaching up, he patted the mascot swinging from the roof on a length of ribbon.

It was a small doll, black of face, with two pearl buttons set in the satin for eyes, a piece of red silk stitched across the lower half of the face for a mouth. It was garbed in a loud plaid dress green and red.

That rag-stuffed little figure had been hanging in this ship for over two years. Palmer had come to believe it was lucky. The girl who had loaned him the down payment on the machine had put it there. He had met her one summer when he had been barnstorming with a small, old ship, and they had knocked around together for three months. She had been pretty sure of herself, Palmer recalled, loaned him money, talked about how "we" were going to make a fortune with the larger ship.

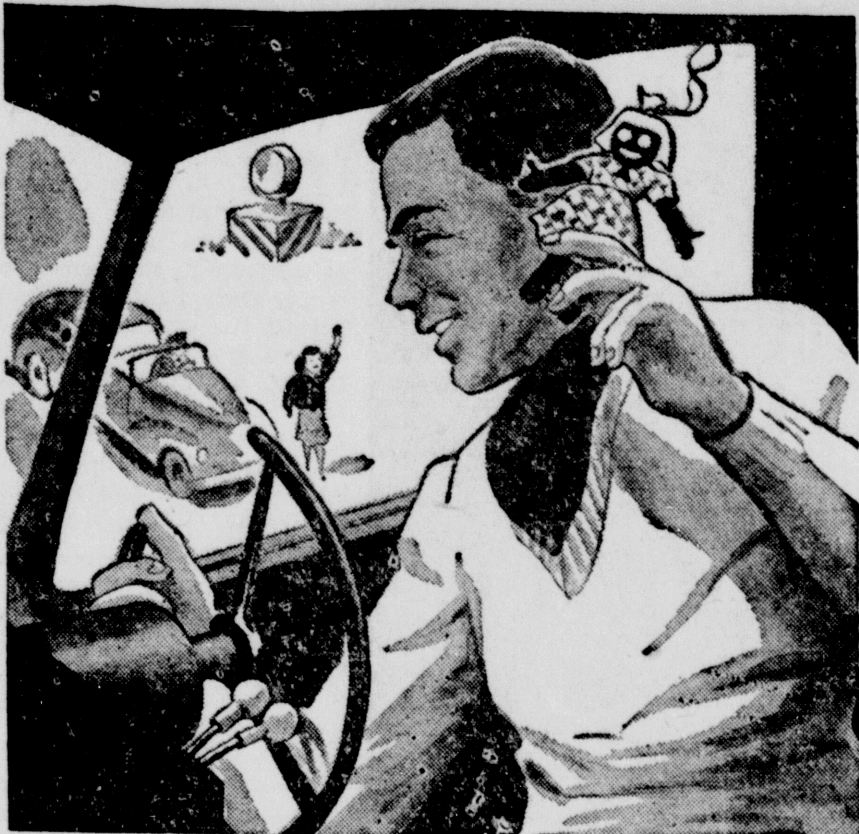

He recalled the night when they had won the doll at a small carnival, in one of the ring-toss games. He had made up his mind already to pull out sometime soon. And it had annoyed him somewhat to see her having such a gay time. But he could not tell her, there was no need to say goodbye tearfully and have her bawl and carry on in front of him.

On their way home she had insisted that they go to the field where his ship was staked down in the open, and sit in the cabin for a few minutes. She had been big, and light blonde and sentimental. Just before they had left the cabin, she had pinned the thing to the upholstery on the ceiling. "That's our luck, Eric," she had said. "As long as she's there, we'll always be safe."

Palmer had smiled, kissed her and taken her home. At dawn of the same morning, he had taken off and come East. He had never returned. Once in a while, a letter from her had caught up with him, but he had not answered. What was the use? He had intended to send her back the loan when he could. He was grateful for the help, and everything. But how could he explain without hurting her, that they were just not suited to each other?

When the letters had stopped coming, he had thought that she had understood. Then some fellow, who had known them both, had handed him a clipping, without a word. She had been killed in a crossing accident. It seemed that her car had stalled on the tracks, and that she had made no effort to get out. The fellow evidently thought she had done it on purpose. Palmer knew better. That girl had had character, she would not have done away with herself over a few hundred bucks and a broken engagement.

He had been tempted to take that doll down. Then he had reasoned that it would be, in a way, an admission of remorse. And he had nothing to blame himself for. The doll had brought him luck at last: Eleonore. She had looks and background and money. Furthermore, she had the kind of a spirit he liked, which he needed close to him. To her, a ship wasn't something to work for a small house, for an ordinary living. She enjoyed what he enjoyed, fame, her name in the papers. She loved him, all right, but she would always understand that he must take long chances.

He jerked the doll loose and tossed it out through the open side window.

AHEAD, he saw the small field where she was waiting. They would drive to her home, be married, and fly away. He tipped his left wing, banked lazily over a field. A bright spot of color detached itself from a long, sleek, dark car. Eleonore waving her scarf. That was service—already. His girl waiting for him with a sixteen cylinder bus, complete with chauffeur.

His spirits surged higher. This was a private airport, no inspector would be around, so he was safe in giving her a show. He slammed the motor full on, nosed down then hauled the ship up and over in a tight loop. He leveled off and eased her around, a few wing-overs—and level flight again.

Something caught his eye, the doll, swinging from the roof, grinning redly. He smiled and slapped it like a punching-bag a few times, glanced at his altimeter. He still had fifteen hundred feet. One last stunt and then he could land. He circled the field once more, swung around and when he was almost over the car, shoved the throttle full on and dove in a screaming fall. The moving doll again attracted his glance.

Eleonore had tightened her lips when he had told her it was a souvenir from a dame, before he got serious with her. It might be tactful to ditch it now—scarcely the memento for a perfect honeymoon! A small sacrifice to love. He tossed it out through the open side window and pulled the wheel back to neutral.

Eleonore was standing still by the side of the car, he noticed and he decided to level off. No need to frighten her. He hauled back further on the wheel. It yielded an inch—and stuck. He pulled again, harder, and the wheel stuck—the wheel stuck—

He must get her nose up, level off—he was doing better than two hundred and the ground was close. Too close . . .

Caught between the horizontal stabilizer and the counterweight for the elevators, the small black doll in the loud green and red plaid dress seemed to widen the grin of her scarlet satin mouth.

TRICKS FOR TEENS

By NANCY PEPPER

Mock Turtle.

The latest fashion to turn into a fad is the long-sleeved, turtle neck cotton knit T-shirt. You're wearing it in white only and you tie one of your shaded silk scarves under the roll collar with the long ends hanging down in back. On the front of your turtle neck shirt you wear your trickiest pin or set of matching pins. At a CALLING ALL GIRLS fashion show held up in Stamford, Conn., we counted no less than eight of these shirts, similarly scarfed, in the first row of the audience! Your favorite teen department has the T shirts, you have the scarves—so what are you waiting for—a date with Lon McAllister?

Time Marches On.

Oh, happy the days when dates were for eating. And happy the days when dates were for learning; But, now you're a teen, there's no retreating—

Dates are for making, breaking—and yearning. You Said It—and You're Glad! "Well, Mock My Shodesty"—Expression of surprise which you could transpose to mean, "Well, Shock My Modesty." Only it wouldn't be so much fun that way.

"Glad to Hear It"—Your comment on any good news. "Sad to Hear It"—Ditto on any bad news.

"Concoct a Witticism"—Very formal for "pop a corny." "That's Your Red Wagon"—That's your worry.

"Icky Bird"—New name for a drip and no relation to the Dicky Bird who announces spring in that popular song.

"T Man"—Top man, formerly known as your O. A. O. "Once in a Red Moon"—Indicates a much longer interval than the traditional "Blue Moon."

"I Wish Your Mother Had Raised Ducks Instead"—This retort can mean only one thing; that you wish the person to whom you're talking had never been born.

"Chee Chee"—You pipe it in a mousy voice and it means "wonderful." It also means you've been spinning Rose Murphy's platters. Well, as the man said when he followed the fire engines, "I want to see what's cooking!"

TRIXIE TEEN SAYS—

You're so engrossed in how you're going to look for this important date that you haven't given much thought to how you're going to sound. You know he's a big basket ball player; you know he's a bug for aviation; you know he's majoring in history and economics at school. They're all clues to his interests—but you haven't had time to follow one of them. Instead, you've concentrated on your clothes, your hair, your make-up. Well, you'll be pretty as a picture, all right—but haven't you heard that silent pictures are obsolete? These days, a boy prefers a picture with sound—a talky that really has something to say!

Proper Technique Eliminates Traditional Ironing Day Blues

By Ertta Haley

IRONING day blues are a common complaint even with all the modern aids for providing ease and saving time. Perhaps one of the contributing reasons for this is that not all women have learned how to use equipment or know short-cuts that will make the ironing easier.

If you want to save time ironing, start preparing for it while doing the washing. If, for example, you have a flat wringer, then fold sheets, towels and other flat work, so there won't be millions of wrinkles when ironing time comes along.

You also will find that shaking out the clothes before they are put on the line will save more time later than it takes to do this little task.

In fact, on a nice windy day, the tiny wrinkles left in the clothes will all be blown out and many things, if neatly folded right off the line, will not need ironing.

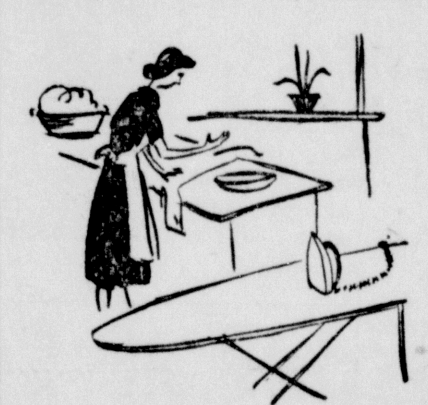

Folding before wringing and shaking out turkish towels, washcloths and mats gives them what commercial laundries mean by "fluff dry," and this cannot be improved by ironing.

Youngster's clothing, when shaken as described above, rarely will need ironing.

Even though clothing is to be ironed, it should be removed from lines and folded neatly so that extra wrinkles are not made in it.

Some Clothes Need Only Little Pressing

Some fabrics, which need only a light touch with the iron, should be set aside in separate piles. If you finish washing early, these can be lightly pressed immediately you remove them from the line, thus making

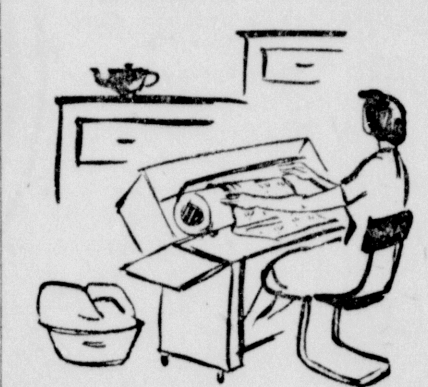

Watch temperatures for ironing . . . the day when you do regular ironing much lighter.

Seersuckers, corduroy play clothes, crinkle crepe clothing, jersey slips and underwear, woolen or cotton blankets, and curtains will need to be touched up lightly with the iron. When these are removed from the list of clothing to be ironed, you can easily see this does not leave too much of the hard work.

Dampening Clothes Properly Saves Time and Work

Moisture makes fabrics easier to iron because they are made more pliable. Linens and cottons, which are relatively brittle fibers, require more moisture than rayons.

Many women have not yet learned the trick of using hot instead of cold water for sprinkling. Hot water, however, penetrates the fibers more easily and evenly, and this makes the fabric slide more evenly under the iron.

Done by hand or by machine.

Garments should be folded neatly so no more wrinkles than necessary are introduced in them. Heavy

Be Smart!

That lovely lady touch is the impressive finesse of distinguished costumes. Often the best way to achieve it is through the magnificent handwork that once more is becoming important fashion-wise and generally more available, wide hemstitching, fagotting such as the model illustrates and touches of embroidery and hand beading.

Ironing Ease

Shorts are turned out on the double with a folding electric iron. One leg is placed inside the other and the shorts are ironed double thickness over the small diameter roll, as is done in flat work. When the ironer has single knee control, both hands are left free to guide the ironing through the machine.

portions such as hems and cuffs should be turned inside so they do not dry.

If you store the dampened garments in a large plastic square rather than a sheet or towel, they will keep better until ready for ironing.

It's also a good idea to knead the clothes slightly as they are rolled or folded to distribute the moisture in them more evenly.

Dampened clothes should be held for at least 30 minutes before ironing. In the cold weather they can be kept overnight, provided there is not too much dampness in the atmosphere. In warm weather, keeping them dampened for more than two or three hours may bring about mildewing.

Ironing Temperatures Should Be Observed

Most irons have a gauge telling you how hot the iron should be for ironing. Use this if you do not already do so. On fabrics which you do not know about, start with a cool iron and see how it works. Work up gradually on the heat if cool and warm will not take out the wrinkles.

In general, the silks, rayons and synthetics require a warm to moderately hot iron. Wool requires a moderate temperature unless you use a damp cloth over it, in which case you may use a hotter temperature.

Light and starched cottons use a hot iron while heavy linens and cottons use the highest temperature on the iron.

It's a good idea to start the ironing with those fabrics which require low temperatures and work up to those which use the hotter temperatures. You'll save time skipping around, and also save on the fuel bill by using this more efficient method.

These same tips should be observed when you are using an automatic electric ironer. Start with the things that need warm temperatures and work upwards.

Make Easy Work Of Small Pieces

Small pieces in the weekly laundry frequently assume large proportions when it comes to ironing time.

Sheets, tablecloths and shirts usually get first attention but the smaller items such as underwear, towels and napkins as well as handkerchiefs take up the most time although most of these are fairly simply ironed, especially if you have an automatic electric ironer.

Napkins and towels are more easily ironed if you place several of them on the roller at one time. And if you can persuade daughter or son to sit alongside of you and fold these items for you as they come through after the first and second time, the task is speeded easily.

Run several handkerchiefs through at the same time also. When handkerchiefs are folded, you can run through as many as four to six or even more when you have women's handkerchiefs.

An electric ironer with a small diameter roll, open at each end, is easy to use because garments can be slipped readily over the roll for ironing. If you have a fold-away type ironer, the storage problem also is simplified.

If you are among the lucky ones who has the automatic type of ironer, learn how to iron some of the other wearables such as shirts and dresses on it. These, of course, can be finished on the regular hand iron, but time will be saved.

Wide ironing boards, even if they have to be made by hand and padded at home, will save an infinite amount of time when it comes to ironing such items as shirts and dresses, because they do not have to be moved and shifted constantly.

HE WHO is glad for every day's bright beauty,

For a flower or a red leaf in the wood,
Who seeks fresh color in each hour's drab duty,
I think he thanks his Maker as he should.

He who is brave to meet each day's new sorrow,
Whose courage marches with him as he goes,
Carries a stronger heart into tomorrow,
And thus thanks God the very best he knows.

He who walks calmly, surely, through disaster,
Trusting an unseen hand to bring him peace,
Lifts up his life, a prayer unto his Master,

Lending a hand, such as a woman would,
Who turns his days and years into a blessing,

POT-SHOTS FROM McCAULLEY

GEORGE DARDEN

The McCauley Baptist Church is without a pastor for the first time in many years. Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Dick left last week for Crosby, Tenn. where they will make their home.

Mrs. W. H. Pickron Jr. from Bossier City, Louisiana is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Darden in McCauley and her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pickron, in Hamlin.

The McCauley Gin had ginned 230 bales prior to Saturday at noon. The community is in need of pickers. If b.l. pullers were available and weather permitted the greater part of cotton would be harvested within 15 days.

Several people from McCauley attended the West Texas Fair in Abilene last week.

Thanks to B. F. Kemp, an old timer of this community, for a renewal of The Hamlin Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cheever visited last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Courtney. Mrs. Cheever is the former Lois Bale of this community. The couple has been on a honeymoon trip to the west coast. Both are medical students in Madison College, Tennessee.

Sorry to learn of the illness of Starr Inzer, a friend to many in this community. We hope that Starr will soon be back home and going strong. His tireless efforts in making Hamlin a better place to live is very commendable and every community needs more civic minded men like Starr Inzer.

Twelve-year-old Walter Nash Myers of the Hobbs community, and formerly of this community, showed the junior champion female Jersey in the show at the West Texas Fair last week.

It's high time that our government get tough with Russia. It looks as if we are going to either fight or get out of Berlin and our soldiers are not in the habit of running. A few atomic bombs dropped on Moscow might get Joe Stalin in line.

Bonnie Beth Jones spent the week-end with Patsy Maberry in McMurry College, Abilene.

Comment No. 1—We have been hearing a lot about the Hamlin Hospital here of late. It seems a lot of folks are in the "air" about it. The Potshot reporter is a stockholder and naturally we are interested in seeing the hospital go over, but if all the folks get "cross ways" it's a cinch that we little guys who plunked down $50 for stock will kiss the $50 goodbye, however we have all sunk $50 or more a lot of times in life and lived over it. Other community hospitals are going over, for instance the Fisher County hospital at Roby. But the hospital at Roby employed a business manager right off and it has been run on a business like basis. The same will have to be done at Hamlin if the hospital is to succeed. It is true that those who worked hard to promote the Hamlin hospital are due a lot of credit for the promotion of it but if there is need of new blood in the setup to make a go of it then let's do what is better all concerned and put the hospital on a paying basis whether it takes a sale to private owners or continues as a stockholder setup.

All we know is that Hamlin needs a hospital and a paid manager. And most of all cooperation, and less gossip. A house divided cannot stand and no business can succeed unless it is run in a business like manner. As far as our little stock is concerned, it makes little difference whether the hospital is sold out right or made to work otherwise. We do know that Hamlin needs a hospital and we will join the majority of stockholders in coming to a final solution of the matter. —Yours, George.

Texas U Enrollment is 600 Below Last Year

Registration for the fall semester of the University of Texas will net approximately 16,700, some 600 less than the 1947 net total officials report.

Fees were paid by more than 17,000 students, but names of those who have dropped out of school since registration will bring the total down approximately 300, Byron Shipp, registrar's statistician said.

Last year's enrollment was 17,343. The drop in registration is due to the decrease in the number of veterans beginning college work, and growth of the junior college movement in Texas.

$30,000,000 State Fair Will Open Gates Saturday; 16 Days Scheduled

The $30,000,000 State Fair of Texas—hailed as the largest annual exposition in the United States—will open Saturday in Dallas for another breath-taking 16-day run.

The "big berth" of the world's state fairs, which covers 187 acres, is expected to draw 2,000,000 visitors before it closes. Nearly a quarter million are expected on opening day.

Agriculture and livestock will occupy choice positions, but sharing the spotlight will be scores of entertainment features both on and off the fair's ten-acre million dollar midway.

More giveaways and free attractions will be featured than at any previous state fair.

The Five Eltons, performing on trapeze and rings 125 feet in air, will give their sky ballet twice daily, followed by the hazardous mid-air feats of Les Kimris, famous aerial gymnast. Art Linkletter will originate his nationwide daily "House Party" broadcasts of fair park auditorium the week of October 11. These attractions and many other broadcasts will be free.

In the Auditorium Jimmy Durante and Harry James will head an all-star revue. At the grandstand will be the "Flying L" Rodeo with Jimmy Wakely, cowboy singing star. The Ice Arena will contain the third, all new edition of "Ice Cycles of 1948."

Eleven special shows and new thrill rides, including the complicated new double ferris wheel, will dot the midway, the greatest number of such attractions ever assembled in Texas.

Major exhibits will include the South's largest automobile show, a

Farm Bureau Meetings Scheduled in October

A milelong parade through downtown Dallas, headed by Governor Beauford Jester, will precede the formal opening. The governor will be principal speaker Saturday at the dedication ceremonies for the new $800,000 Automobile Aviation and Recreation Building, part of the fair's $3,000,000 "new look."

The heated Texas-Oklahoma football game will give the renovated an enlarged 67,435-seat Cotton Bowl its baptism of fire on opening day.

Exams are Announced For State Positions

The Merit System Council, which serves as a "clearing house" for positions in the State Department of Public Welfare, will hold open competitive examinations on November 13, 1948, for a number of positions now open in that agency, according to Charles S. Gardiner, director of the Merit System Council.

Positions to be filled by the agency consist of field worker, child welfare worker, senior child welfare worker, county child welfare supervisor 11, junior stenographer, and clerk-typist. Qualifications for these positions vary from high school graduation to college work and experience requirements.

Gardiner said application to take an examination must be made on an official application blank, which may be obtained by writing the Merit System Council, 98 Tribune Building, Austin or from the Employment Commission and Department of Public Welfare local offices located throughout the State. "The closing date for submission of applications is October 23 1948 and applications postmarked after midnight on the closing date will not be considered," he said.

School bells are ringing for the first time this month for these two young gentlemen. The youngster at left seems a bit dubious about the fate that awaits him at a kindergarten classroom, but his beaming buddy thinks it's going to be a wonderful place. They're well-dressed scholars in outfits by Johnston in cotton Zephyr overalls, cotton twill jackets, and knit caps trimmed with matching corduroy tops.

Increase Is Shown in Carloadings by Katy

A sharp increase in carloadings, reported this week by the M-K-T railroad, was an indication of good business conditions in the midwestern area, company officials said.

For the week ending September 28, 1948, total loadings were 7,153, as compared to 5,853 for the corresponding period for 1947.

Pope Asks Vote For Directors

Meeting Set for Sunday Afternoon to Elect Directors for Hamlin Hospital

A called meeting of stockholders of the Hamlin Memorial Hospital association will be held in the Hamlin High School auditorium Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Bowen Pope, secretary, said this week.

Purpose of the meeting, Pope said, is to elect a new board of directors to replace those who were named several weeks ago, but declined to accept the responsibility.

The by-laws of the institution provide for the election of nine directors to the official board.

Pope said in a statement to The Herald Tuesday that the membership of the organization is being notified by postal cards about the meeting and that "the members present at any regular or special meeting constitute a quorum for transacting business."

The hospital was carrying on its work this week without interruption, with Dr. J. F. Hocott and Dr. E. L. Haag continuing in charge of the medical and surgical departments.

Pope said a full-time registered nurse is expected to come here within a few days to serve in the hospital. He said a nurse from Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene has been employed for the position, and the doctors are seeking the services of a second nurse to assist.

A technician for the x-ray room is also being sought, Pope said.

Emphasizing the importance of all stockholders attending the special meeting set for next Sunday, Pope said "Differences of points of view or opinions are granted to each and everyone, but all agree that all progress in community development is gained by cooperation. No one can possibly desire to see our young hospital fail. It must succeed, and many people think it will."

Sylvester Man's Body Is Enroute Home for Burial

The body of Pfc. James F. Herron of Sylvester, is being returned to his home, together with the bodies of 343 other Texans who gave their lives in the recent war, according to an announcement this week by the War Department.

Herron was the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Herron of Sylvester. He was born there February 18, 1925, and spent his boyhood in that community. He attended school at Sylvester and went one term to Middle High School.

Herron entered the Army November 26, 1944 and was assigned to an infantry company. He landed in Europe May 1, 1945.

A victim of a traffic accident, Herron died when a Jeep in which he was riding overturned in Western Germany October 28, 1945.

He was a member of a Missionary Baptist Church in his community.

Herron's funeral rites will be arranged after his parents are notified of the exact date for arrival of the body in Sylvester, his father said Tuesday.

Herron is survived by his parents, two sisters, Mrs. Robert Morton of Harwell and Meddie Grace Herron of Sylvester; and by two brothers, Clyde and Roy, both of Sylvester.

Mrs. Harvey Named Manager of Store

Mrs. O. G. Harvey has been appointed manager of the Thomas Sylte Shoppe, and assumed her duties last Thursday, when Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thomas, owners, left for Abilene to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas bought the Sylte Shoppe from Mrs. Eula Carter early in September.

Mrs. Harvey has had much experience in retail merchandising, and has been employed in several stores in Hamlin.

John Irwin, who recently left Hamlin to make his home in Junction, Colorado, is here this week on business.

Mighty Mice Suffer First Defeat in Two Years; Meet Rotan Here Thursday

Smarting under the sting of a one-point defeat—the first they had suffered in two seasons of play—the Hamlin Mighty Mice prepared this week for a contest on the home field Thursday night, when they were slated to face the Rotan Juniors.

The Mice bowed before the Stamford Junior Bulldogs by the narrow margin of a 14-13 score in a game at Stamford last Thursday night.

The Stamford Juniors emerged from the game still unbeaten for the season.

In the first quarter Keith Miles for the Bulldogs carried the ball across the line for the first score of the game. Kelley hit the line for the extra point to give the Bulldogs a 7-0 lead over the Mice.

The lead, however, was short lived when the Mice retaliated with a touchdown and kicked the extra point to tie the score 7-7.

The Bulldogs scored again in the second to bring the tally to 14-7 in favor of Stamford.

The Mice started a strong drive to even the count and netted another touchdown, but the try for conversion proved a failure and the two teams battled it out, surging back and forth across the field for the entire last half with neither team able to tally.

Coach John Howell has been drilling his squad ruthlessly this week to get it in shape for the Rotan game, and he said Wednesday that fans who attend will be assured of witnessing a fighting aggregation of Hamlin boys.

ATTEND DALLAS PLAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate May and Mrs. J. W. Ezell of Hamlin and Mrs. J. Frank Johnson of Rotan attended the musical comedy Oklahoma in Dallas last Thursday evening.

It's outlaw against outlaw in the tussle shown above. Convicts, entered as contestants in the annual prison rodeo at Huntsville are shown milking a wild mare. The dates for the rodeo are October 3, October 10, 13, 17, 24 and 31. Some of the wildest stock ever assembled in the Southwest is being used in the rodeo.

Pipers Take Rest; Roscoe Tilt Next

Hamlin Held Strong Anson Tigers to 6-0 Win in Game Here Last Friday

After four weeks of hard-fought games, in which Hamlin Piped Pipers won one game, lost one and tied one, the grid team will take a rest this week with no contest slated.

The Pipers dropped a game to the strong Anson Tigers last Friday in the local field by the slim margin of one touchdown. The score was 6 to 0.

Charles Pearce of the Tigers carried the ball across the stripe for the winning counter. He received the ball on a 35-yard pass from Mayne in the second quarter. The try for an extra point failed.

The Piped Pipers after their week's rest, will swing into action again next Friday when the Roscoe eleven will come here for the first conference game of the year.

The two teams are said to be well matched in playing prowess this year, and each has a percentage of 375 in games won for the season.

Like the Pipers, Roscoe suffered a defeat in last Friday's game when the Winters Blizzards won 26 to 12.

Following are standings for the teams of District 6-A, prior to this week's contests:

Hamlin Nazarenes to Join in Anniversary

The Hamlin Church of the Nazarene will join Sunday in the worldwide celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Nazarene organization, according to the pastor, Rev. Howard Smith.

The formation of the present group took place at Pilot Point, in October, 1908, Smith said. At that time there were 10,000 members scattered in 228 widely separated congregations. The Sunday School department had an enrollment of 6,000 and total gifts for the year were $140,000.

"After 40 years the Church of the Nazarene has grown to 210,000 members in 3,350 churches. The Sunday School enrollment has increased to 400,000 and gifts to all purposes are more than $44,000,000 annually."

Rev. Smith said the public is invited to attend services honoring the anniversary.

Miss Lottie Hines of Fort Worth visited in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hines and other relatives here this week. She has been on a vacation trip to Carlsbad Caverns New Mexico, and will return to Fort Worth next week.

Condition of Starr Inzer, prominent business and civic leader of Hamlin, was said to be critical in a report from the Baylor Hospital in Dallas late Wednesday.

Inzer was taken to Dallas last Thursday evening by ambulance after he suffered a heart attack and collapsed in his home here Tuesday evening.

Doctors said Inzer had been working too hard and was in a state of almost complete exhaustion. His condition was reported "unchanged from the time of his admission."

Frank Waggoner, a close friend of the stricken man, and Mrs. Inzer accompanied him to Dallas.

Sale of the Coltharp grocery store on North Central Avenue, to H. F. Newberry and O. C. Newberry of Lubbock was announced this week. The new owners took possession of the business Monday.

No Patients in Week For Hamlin Hospital

No patients have been admitted to the Hamlin Memorial Hospital during the past week, except Mrs. D. A. McCoy, who gave birth to a boy Wednesday morning, according to Bowen Pope.

Not only has the hospital failed to admit anyone, Pope said, but there have been no discharges from the institution during the past seven days.

A talk by Wilks Curry of Haskell was featured at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Hamlin Lions Club, which met in the Morgan House.

Curry discussed the meaning of Lionism and told members what is required to make a good member of the service club. He gave a brief demonstration to illustrate the value of cooperation and teamwork.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Alexander, former residents of Abilene, have moved to Hamlin to make their home. Alexander is employed by the Hamlin Sand & Gravel Company.

No Money Quota Set in Campaign for Funds; 200 Members Is Goal of Drive

With no definite quota set for the fund campaign, a "kick-off" breakfast will be held in Hamlin next Tuesday morning, when business and civic leaders will inaugurate the annual drive for money to carry on Boy Scout work in Hamlin.

The breakfast here is one of many to be held throughout the Chisholm Trail Council's territory Tuesday morning. A radio program, broadcast over KDWT in Stamford and KRBC in Abilene will be heard simultaneously by all of the breakfasters. Nib Shaw, Abilene civic leader, is chairman for the council.

Breakfasts will be held not only in Hamlin, but in Winters, Coleman, Baird, Albany, Anson, Stamford, Haskell, Rule, O'Brien, Merkel, Cross Plains and Clyde.

The general solicitation program is expected to be completed in the one day's intensive drive, according to Joe Culbertson, chairman of the campaign in Hamlin.

The breakfast here will take place at 6:45 and invitations have been issued to all men who are interested in the work being done by Boy Scouts to attend.

Purpose of the campaign, according to J. Cleo Scott, local minister, and an active participant in scout affairs, is to obtain at least 200 persons who will contribute each month during the coming year to the program.

The budget for the Chisholm Trail Council has been set at $32,650, Culbertson said.

The Chisholm Trail Council comprises the counties of Jones, Haskell, Shackelford, Callahan, Coleman, Taylor and the north half of Runnels.

"The two chief aims of the campaign," Culbertson said Wednesday, "are to enlist more boys in scouting and to finance the program properly for the year."

County Schools Receive $19,521 For Bus Service

Jones County schools have received the final payment of $19,521 for transportation expenses for last fiscal year, according to County Superintendent Everett Beaver.

Beaver also announced that the lunch rooms operated in all except one school are receiving two additional allotments of food from the federal government and that a safety inspection of all school buses has been completed recently. A deputy state superintendent will inspect the elementary schools of the county on October 11 and 12.

The final transportation payment for last fiscal year was late in arriving, Beaver said, and there are still a few minor adjustments to be made in payments to some of the schools.

The food received for distribution to lunch rooms of the county includes 15 cases of honey and 61 sacks of Irish potatoes.

A highway patrolman inspected the school buses and some of them are being given recommended adjustments to comply with the state safety requirements.

The state's inspection of all accredited rural elementary schools will be made by Clive Pierce, who will be accompanied by Beaver on the visit to all schools of that class. Pierce will score the schools for state rating. Later in the school year the independent and common district high schools will be visited, Beaver said.

RETURN FROM TRIP.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. McCrary have returned to Hamlin after a trip to Galveston. They were accompanied as far as Houston by Mrs. D. O. Sauls, who visited relatives there.

County SCS Field Day Scheduled for April 12, 1949; Organization Set Up

Plans for a Jones County Soil Conservation Service field day to be held next spring were discussed at a meeting of agricultural agency directors, vocational agriculture teachers, representatives of Chambers of Commerce and the Jones County farm agent in Anson last Tuesday evening.

Tentative date for the field day has been set for Tuesday April 12. R. R. Kelley of the Rule-Jayton Cotton Oil Mill of Stamford was elected chairman of the arrangements meeting. Kelley said committees and their members will be named from time to time as planning for the event progresses.

It is probable that plans for the day will include a conducted tour of farms in the county where soil conservation practices have been adopted. However, some members of the group urged that the program be held in one location with side trips arranged to demonstrate the various practices. A free meal will be served at noon, it was decided.

Members of the program committee appointed by Kelley are: H. C. Stanley, Jones County agent, chairman; M. T. Turner, E. C. Gainous, T.

C. Blankenship, L. E. Dooley, Hugh Majors and P. C. Wiley.

The program committee began its work Wednesday, October 6, in a meeting in the Anson Chamber of Commerce office.

Publicity committee members are: Jack Norman, manager of the Stamford Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. E. M. Wilson, manager of the Hamlin Chamber of Commerce and James C. Hestand, manager of the Anson Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the steering committee are: Kelley, M. T. Turner of the SCS, Stamford; Ed Schwartz, Veterans Vocational School, Stamford; E. C. Gainous, manager Jones County ACA, Anson; L. E. Dooley, Vocational Agriculture director, Anson; Jimmy Love, coordinator Jones County Veterans Vocational Schools, Anson; C. F. Simpson, SCS, Hawley; Jim McCulloch, Stamford; T. C. Blankenship, Vocational Agriculture director, Hamlin; C. A. Williams, Stamford; F. B. Moore Jr., Hamlin; Jack Norman, Stamford; Mrs. E. M. Wilson, Hamlin; James C. Hestand, Anson; and H. C. Stanley, Anson.

Further announcements will be made as plans for the program are completed, Kelley said.

Who Wants Security?

A favorite verbal football of politicians for the last dozen or more years has been the topic of security. They have waxed eloquent in describing a nation in which "three fourths of the citizens are ill housed, ill-clothed and ill-fed."

The subject of security has been discussed to such an extent by those who devise all sorts of maudlin schemes to win votes that many people have come to regard it as a desirable goal in life—something like an assurance of Heaven.

Actually free people never have sought security—at least not the kind guaranteed by some gigantic federal bureaucracy. The only social security that is worth while and that appeals to the fundamental ideals of democracy within all of us is that wrought by our own hands and fashioned by our own efforts.

It was not security that those intrepid colonists were seeking when they braved the wrath of the turbulent Atlantic and sailed away from the despot-ridden lands of Europe in search of new homes. It was not security, but liberty.

It was not security that motivated Washington and Jefferson and Franklin and Hamilton and their compatriots in declaring that "these United States are of a right, and ought to be free and independent states." It was not security they sought, but freedom.

The most secure people—in an economic sense—that the world knows today inhabit cells in Huntsville and other prisons throughout the country. They are not "ill-housed, ill-fed and ill-clothed." They have shelter and food and clothing and recreation and jobs. But there is not a single one who would not willingly change all of his "security" for the privilege of walking erect as a free man, with the right of choice and decision.

As a class the Negro slaves in pre-Civil War days knew the ultimate of security. They had no worries about food and clothing and medical attention. But deep within the hearts of these people there burned the fierce fires of freedom. They had security, but they wanted liberty.

A long time ago it was recorded in the Bible that God proclaimed "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread." and that Divine injunction cannot be changed by the enactment of social orders nor by the advent of any so-called security schemes.

While everyone believes in laws to protect the weak and helpless and those who are unable to provide for themselves, yet it is fundamentally un-American to support legislation which would serve to reward indolence and to penalize thrift and hard work.

With each addition to our already voluminous social security setup will come an additional army of officious bureaucrats who are not producers, but leeches upon the public purse. Slowly, but surely this crowd of termites is eating away at the sturdy foundations of our democracy, and unless checked, they will effect the downfall of self-government in our nation and open the way for dictatorship.

Unless we have the right to know hunger we cannot enjoy the blessings of food; unless we have the right and the opportunity to know cold, shelter and warmth will cease to appeal to us as desirable goals.

After all mankind is more than an organism; mankind is more than an animal. Man is not only physical being, he is as well a spiritual entity, capable of self-determination and possessed of initiative and ambition.

When the day comes—which seems to be coming—that bureaucrats have us completely regimented, America will have ceased to be a land of liberty and will degenerate into a nation of automatons, controlled by the whims of politicians.

Instead of a government which guarantees food and shelter and clothing to its citizens, all any freeman should ask is a government that protects his right to work and to plan and to make progress, free from the meddling of theorists who themselves would starve to death were they not subsidized by public taxation.

The goal of Americans has always been individual freedom and the right of self-determination. May God keep that shining goal ever before us and prevent us from becoming sidetracked by the chimerical promises of insincere demagogues. It is not security we seek, but liberty.

Today 80 per cent of the land on the nation's farms is plowed by tractors. In the case of wheat, oats and other small grains, 90 per cent of the seeding and harvesting is done with oil-powered equipment.

The first successful newspaper in the colonies was started with permission of the royal governor of Massachusetts in 1704.

Pensions Hiked As U. S. Funds Are Increased

Checks for old age assistance, aid to the needy blind and aid to dependent children in Texas will be increased approximately $2 each for the month of October, it was announced this week by LaRue B. McFarland, field worker for Jones County.

The increase came when the last session of congress passed a bill to increase federal participation in the pension program. Under the new formula the federal government provides 64 per cent and the state furnishes 36 per cent of the pension cost.

If the federal funds had not been made available McFarland said, it would have been necessary to cut pension payments from $2 to $3 for each person.

A minimum of $50 has been set for old age assistance pensioners and aid to the needy blind. In the dependent children program the new schedule calls for payment of $27 for the first child in a family, and $18 for each additional child.

A total of 207,143 persons received old age assistance checks for the month of September. The checks averaged $31.57. Average payment to the needy blind were $38, and the average payment for needy children during September was $15.08.

It is anticipated that $86,000,000 will be distributed to old age assistance pensioners during the fiscal year, 1949, McFarland said. Of this amount the federal government will pay $55,000,000 and the state will pay $31,000,000, which is all that was appropriated by the legislature for this purpose.

VETERANS NEWS

Dependents of deceased World War II veterans who get death compensation checks from the VA will receive individual reminders of their possible entitlement to income tax refunds, and of the necessity for applying for them before the end of the year, VA reports.

The refunds, authorized by Public Law 367 of the 80th Congress, apply to certain income taxes of members of the armed forces who died while in active service between December 7, 1941 and December 31, 1947. Application must be made by December 31, 1948.

Subject of refund under the law are all Federal income taxes paid by or on behalf of such members of the armed forces for the taxable year in which they died, and for prior tax years dating back to December 7, 1941, during any part of which they served.

Most members of the armed forces—particularly enlisted men—were exempt from income tax under special wartime law.

Consequently, the number entitled to rebates is not expected to be large, and the VA notice advises dependants first to make sure taxes actually were paid before seeking refunds.

Forms for applying may be obtained from the office of any collector of internal revenue (Form 843). Applications for refunds and any correspondence on the subject also should be directed to the Collector of Internal Revenue where the tax was paid, and not to VA or the Bureau of Internal Revenue in Washington, D. C.

Mr and Mrs Jim West of Clyde spent Sunday as guests of Mr and Mrs Aubrey Tindal.

Camp Fire Girls, Bluebirds Organized In Hamlin; Leaders to Meet in Stamford

Reactivation of the Camp Fire Girls and Bluebirds, the junior organization, in Hamlin was effected in a meeting held in the elementary School Cafeteria Monday afternoon at 3:45.

The meeting was in charge of Miss Kathleen Crawford of Stamford, area executive for the West Texas area. The Camp Fire Girls and Bluebirds first were organized in Hamlin about a year ago, but have not been very active during the past year.

Mrs. Ucker of near Hamlin was named leader of the organization, and will be assisted by the following women: Mrs. Don Gould, Mrs. Paul Wick and Mrs. Connally for girls 7 to 8; Mrs. Bert Fomby, Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Cecil Brown for girls 9 years of age.

Sponsors of the movement are Mrs. Kenneth Parker, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Shivers.

The Monday meeting was attended by 20 mothers of Hamlin and the surrounding area, and about 25 children, ages 7 to 12, were also present.

A meeting will be held in Stamford next Thursday, October 14, when leaders will be given a short course of training in their duties and will be told the best methods to use in creating an effective organization here.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(The Hamlin Herald is glad to publish letters from readers on any subject, and will print them without deletion provided they do not violate laws of libel and rules of good taste. The opinions expressed in letters published here are not necessarily those of the paper.)

To the Editor:

After reading Mr. Pope's letter concerning the Hamlin Memorial Hospital and it being built in memory of our service men, I would like to submit the following:

I have been a resident of Hamlin for the past six months because of the illness of my mother. In that time I was a patient in the Hamlin Hospital. The service rendered me at that time by your doctors and their assistants was as good as I have ever received in any hospital. I have had 12 years experience in hospitals, some being among the largest in Texas, working with many doctors and doctors of all ages. It was my privilege also to serve four years during the war with the Camp and Hospital Council of Central Texas, servicing seven government hospitals, including McClosky General, McClosky Annex, and six prison camp hospitals.

My experiences were many. The hospital doctors are young but they are very capable and sincere and were also service men. They not only want to help make the hospital a monument to service men but to Hamlin and Jones County.

They also are building a never forgotten future for themselves and their families. It is my belief that a doctor is an ambassador of God, and if God has ever showered special blessings on people, He has the Hamlin people. It is shown every day in the generous love and friendship to each other.

We should all be loyal to our family doctors. You can do this and still be loyal to any civic movement that is a betterment for your

FIRELESS RECORD FOR HAMLIN IS BROKEN BY TRASH FIRE AT 64 DAYS

After 64 days without a run of the Hamlin Volunteer Fire Department, the truck was called out at 9 o'clock Thursday morning to put out a trash fire that threatened to get out of control, according to Mickey McGuire, chief.

The trash fire was in the rear of the Ava Hudson home, and no

property damage resulted from the blaze, McGuire said.

"With high winds and the dry condition of weeds and grass, there is danger of a serious fire resulting from the burning of trash," McGuire warned. He urged all residents to take extreme caution in burning their trash to prevent costly destruction of property.

"However," he said, "don't fail to call the Fire Department at once

community and the growing generation.

Deaf ears should be turned against idle and malicious gossip. I am not a subscriber to the hospital, however, I am sincere in saying I would like to see this hospital remain the Hamlin Memorial Hospital and fulfill its need in this community.

Sincerely,
Nettie B. Williams

With the breaking of the long fireless record, firemen were wondering if another long period can be made to pass without a run of the trucks.

Just for Two.

The young couple had just finished inspecting the tiny bird-cage apartment. Stepping out of earshot of the agent, they whispered briefly. The wife nodded at last, and the husband, turning to the agent, exclaimed resignedly:

"I don't see why," retorted the real estate man. "The apartment was planned for two people."

"I know," the young husband agreed, "but you see, we were hoping to be able to keep a goldfish."

Cotton Market Shows Weakness In Exchanges

Cotton trading picked up last week in Oklahoma and Texas, but failed to match the activity of the corresponding week last year the Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, reported.

Sales continued rather small for this time of the year at the nation's 10 spot markets, where only 254,600 bales exchanged hands last week. Dallas, Houston and Galveston sold 57,696 bales of this grand total, an increase of 13 per cent over the previous week.

Omaha and Texas merchants and shippers last week for strict low middling and better, ranging in staple length 13-16 inch to 1-1-16 inch. Also, there was some demand for low middling 7-8 inch staple.

Inquiries from domestic and export shipments were fairly numerous but prices offered were not attractive. Most current buying is for the purpose of filling previous commitments.

Reports to USDA indicated farmers are selling a good part of current ginnings well above loan values in some sections.

Spot cotton prices fluctuated within a narrow range last week. The basis weakened in the Dallas market but remained about unchanged in the Houston and Galveston markets.

Spot cotton prices for middling 15-16 inch averaged 31.22 cents per pound last Thursday at the 10 chief markets. This was about $2.50 per bale higher than the loan rate, and $3.20 per bale higher than the price on the corresponding day last year.

Doctor Urges Care in Prevention of Colds; Cites Danger of Infection

Sudden seasonal changes in the weather during the fall months of ten result in chilling which in turn is usually followed by wide-spread incidence of the common cold. This disease always spreads rapidly because of the fact that very few people can live isolated lives and in any group or crowd of people coughing, sneezing and spitting will scatter millions of cold germs among susceptible persons.

Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, says there are countless ways of spreading a cold other than by coughing, sneezing and spitting. "For instance," the doctor said, "if a member of your family has a cold and the other members share a common drinking glass with him, you may expect the whole family to pick up the germs he leaves on the glass. Sometimes a person with a cold thoughtlessly touches his mouth or nostrils with his hand, and then shakes hands with another person. That person can, and very likely will, contaminate his own mouth or nostrils with his hand, and the germs are transmitted into his system. A child with a cold may contaminate his toys, and the next child that picks them up and plays with them will certainly obtain the cold germs, along with the toys."

Children, as well as adults, who are suffering from a cold should be put to bed, and if complete rest, light food, and plenty of liquids do not improve his condition in short time, the family physician should be called.

Dr. Cox further advised that dressing properly for the weather, sensible eating, plenty of rest, and avoiding persons with colds can be helpful in preventing your own infection. Colds are costly in time, health and money, the doctor said, and added, "Prevent them if possible."

Elbert L. Grimes Is Stationed in Japan

Grimes joined the Army in Dallas in June 1947, and was sent to Japan in November of the same year. He is a member of the first platoon, 5th Special Service Company. This unit performs an important part in the occupation by supplying the units of the Kobe base with adequate facilities for recreation.

Before Grimes' entrance into the Army he attended Hamlin High School.

Meeting of Red Cross For County, Nov. 4

Annual meeting of the Jones County Chapter of the American Red Cross will be held in the district room in Amon, November 4 at 7:30 p.m. It was announced this week by Hubert L. Watson of Stamford, county chairman.

All members of the Red Cross are invited to attend the meeting and participate in business matters that will come up for discussion.

ENTERTAIN GUESTS.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Smith of Hamlin entertained a group of guests in their home in Rule Sunday. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Simpkins of Rule, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Smith of Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. D. Simpkins of Plainview.

Two drivers exchanged highway lanes in a thrill game. Result: a head-on auto-truck crash and this grim aftermath, photographed by Joe Benetti with a Speed Graphic. Driver of the car (on ground) was killed instantly. His companion, an 18-year-old girl, shown being lifted from the wreckage, died shortly afterward.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all work out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. This recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Inask on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

High School Debaters Begin Forensic Study

High school debate teams in Texas schools began study and research this week on the question to be discussed in their forensic tilts.

The question is: Resolved, that the State of Texas should increase the severance tax on its natural resources.

Last year approximately 3,000 teams participated in the debate on arbitration of labor disputes in major industries.

Fire Is Labeled Public Enemy No. 1 In State as Well as Whole Country

The most dangerous "red" in Texas has been under investigation by the state for years, Marvin Hall, fire insurance commissioner, said this week.

Hall accused this "enemy" with the deaths of 200 Texans, the torturing of twice that number and the destruction of nearly $15,000,000 in property since January of this year. He declared this No. 1 foe to be fire.

"Last year fire caused the greatest destruction in the history of the nation as well as in Texas," Hall stated. "Nearly 700 million dollars in property went up in flames in the United States and over 22 million was lost in our state."

Texas is breaking that record this year by a slight edge. Through August of this year our losses totaled $14,777,900. During the same period last year they reached $14,287,000. For the whole year of 1948 losses were $8,813,945.

Fire took 557 lives in Texas in 1947, not including the Texas City disaster figures. About 11,000 people were burned to death in the United States last year. "These figures do not include the suffering of the maimed and injured that total twice the number of the deaths from fire," Hall remarked, the "wasted" use of valuable materials to rebuild businesses and homes, the paychecks lost from work being burned-out or the higher insurance rates to make up for excessive losses.

"Over 85 per cent of our fires are preventable. If the people of Texas remove fire hazards, study the things that cause fires, then observe safety practices, our losses could be at least cut in half."

"Fire Prevention Week, October 3-9, is the best time to start cutting down fire losses. The twin objective of the Week are to rid our homes and communities of hazards and to focus attention on the careless habits which take such a high toll of life and property."

Farm Income in Plains Area Is Down For Summer; Rest of State Increased

Texas farm cash income rose 13 per cent from July to August, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

Increased sales of cotton and livestock pushed August income 36 per cent above a year earlier to $185,787,000.

Cotton sales, totaling $87,340,000, was the greatest source of farm income in August 1948. Income from cattle totaled $27,634,000, for second place.

Southern Texas Prairies' income totaled $44,286,000, the highest farm income in August, as marketings of cotton, grain sorghums, and cattle stepped up from a month earlier. Farm income in Coastal Prairies, totaling $31,984,000, was second, reflecting higher sales from cotton, cattle and rice.

Farm income more than doubled from July to August in Coastal Prairies, Black and Grand Prairies, East Texas Timbered Prairies and Southern Texas Prairies. On the other hand, sharp declines from July occurred in Northern High Plains, 74 per cent; Red Bed Plains, 61 per cent; Lower Rio Grand Valley, 35 per cent; and Southern High Plains, 33 per cent.

Except for decreases in Northern High Plains, South Texas Prairies, and Southern High Plains, all districts reported farm income above August 1947. August income tripled year earlier levels in Black and Grand Prairies and doubled in East Texas Timbered Prairies and Coastal Prairies.

For the first eight months of 1948, farm income reached $880,629,000, or five per cent under a like period in 1947.

50 Men Have Been Classified for Draft in County

Fifty men have been classified by the draft board of Jones, Haskell and Shackelford counties. The job of mailing questionnaires will be stepped up after this week, Mrs A A Dunwoody, clerk of the board, said this week.

James Hestand, Anson Chamber of Commerce manager, has been approved as advisor to Jones County registrants and will assist men who need help in filling out their questionnaires.

Questionnaires have been mailed to most of the single men born in 1922, 1923, 1924, and 1925. A number of them have already been returned to the Anson office. The clerks were busy last week in correcting minor errors in registration cards preparatory to completing the mailing of questionnaires to the older groups.

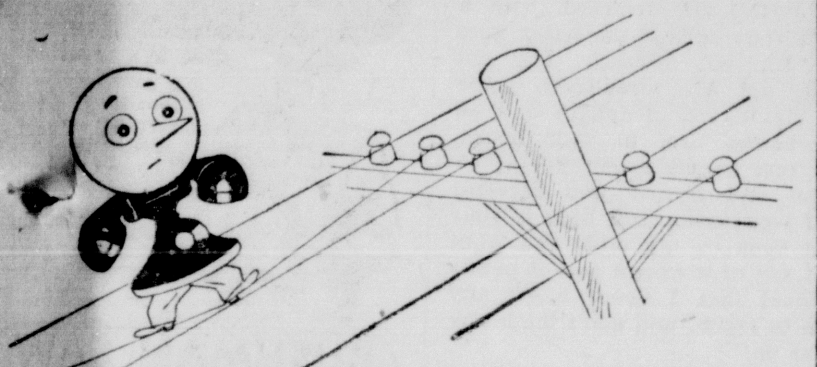

No quotas have been received by the board, as yet, and no information on the induction dates has been given the local board. However, the national schedule indicates that the first call for trainees from Texas will be in November.

MOVE TO HAMLIN.

WALKIE-TALKIE STATIC

The FCC announces that it is about ready to license individuals for walkie-talkie. Quantity production of these radio contrivances is near. It would appear that it is not only going to be hard to get off by yourself and away from everybody, but almost impossible.

People with walkie-talkies strapped on them can communicate with one another over fairly long distances and we fear the worst.

The wife who had to wait until he got home to supper now can start talking to her husband on the fourteenth hole, down at Gilligan's bar or even when he is in a rowboat fishing under the tin bridge. And a husband can crash right through into any cocktail party or bridge game where the wife is hiding out.

Junior's happiness will be limited further. Just as he reaches the old swimmin' hole, mom can demand by walkie-talkie, "Where are you and what are you doing?"

Everybody will be able to start gabbing with somebody else on a mere whim. Talk is going to be not only cheap but unavoidable. (It might be wise to ration it.)

The fellow who invented radio started something. And the finish is getting pretty hectic. There was a time when a man's home was his castle, but it has been a communication bureau for a quarter of a century. The "hush of the fireside" is extinct. But up to now the old man could hide out behind the barn or execute a runout by sneaking off to watch the excavations for the new chain grocery.

There is some comfort in knowing that the FCC will require walkie-talkie addicts to have a license. This will limit the talking somewhat. But what will be the punishment if a fellow talks without a license? Will he have his right to scuttle-but suspended for 30 days?

The walkie-talkie is expected to be of great help in operating a farm or ranch. The Lone Ranger, we take it, no longer will be lonely. He will have all the privacy of a man engaged in an open debate in Madison Square garden.

Heigh ho, Silver!

Are ya listenin'?

Special Delivery Service

A new stamp in memory of Babe Ruth is proposed. This department suggests that it be a special delivery stamp, as something is desperately needed that will lift such letters over the fences of snafu in our postal department, especially in the matter of special delivery, for which the higher rates are asked.

To cover up shortcomings in the special delivery service, the postmaster general recently ordered that important recordings of the delivery be abandoned. It is now almost impossible to trace their course with accuracy. This department recently mailed two letters special delivery at a cost of 19 cents each. One of them got through in good time; the other hasn't arrived yet.

Ever since the post office issued that new chicken stamp it seems to Elmer Twitchell that the post office pens have more feathers in them.

The U. N. discloses that while all the other nations to whom we loaned billions in World War I now have scratched the debts from their ledgers, the United States still carries them on our balance sheet. Washington still believes in good fairies and forlorn hopes, regardless of the expense.

Axis Sally, a young woman who broadcast for Hitler and told U. S. soldiers they were fools for fighting, is back in this country on treason charges. But the present picture in this country being so cockeyed, it would not surprise us if she ran on a political ticket, denounced congress, defied questioners and charged that proceedings against her were a red herring.

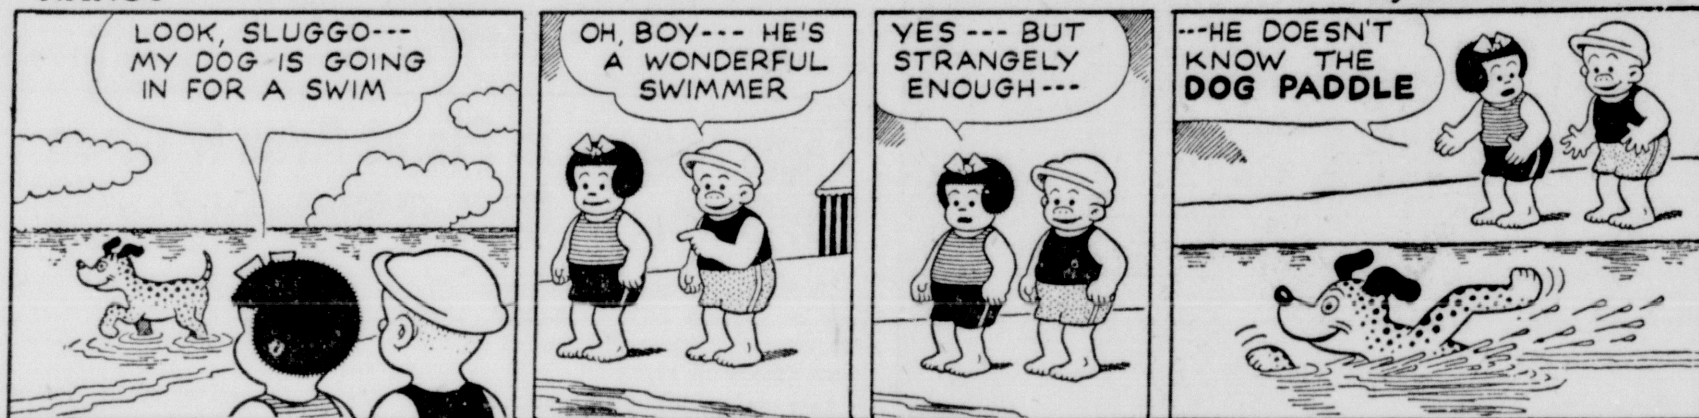

It strikes this department that if congressional committees really intend to concentrate in a serious way on identifying everybody in Washington who lied in the last 14 years, the exposures will have to take place in Yankee stadium.

Pure Family Love

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"ALL the families in your books have one characteristic," writes Nadine Carter, a very modern young woman who does a weekly book-review column for a Pennsylvania newspaper. "Whatever your people are, rich or poor, Irish or American, they all love each other and are sympathetic and cooperative, having such fun doing dishes and being poor! Have you actually ever known a family like that? I haven't. We weren't fighters in our family, but we all had our separate interests and grudges and we all—that is my sister and I, got out of home young, lived downtown and married. My parents were divorced when we were babies and my mother had a son by a second marriage; he's all right now, but he was a regular pest as a small boy.

"I myself am divorced, with a little girl to raise," the letter goes on. "I'm not unhappy, and not happy, but my three-room home isn't that haven of delight that all your homes are, in your books. Most real homes aren't full of affection and loyalty and service; all of yours are. Now here is your latest book on my table and what can I say of it except that it paints an ideal that I never knew any home to reach, and don't think any homes do!"

This half-whimsical and half-impatient criticism would have hurt me once. But now it only makes me a little sad. For if this clever young woman really has grown to maturity without ever knowing what a real home is, she has been robbed of something that no later years can replace.

High Ideals Predominate.

In answer to her I can only say that there are thousands of homes—hundreds of thousands of them—in this fortunate country of ours, where children are raised to high ideals of service and duty, and where family love is developed as naturally as young minds and bodies are. There are countless good fathers and good mothers, who live only for home and children, who maintain high ideals of personal behavior themselves, and live to see that fineness reflected in their children's lives.

There are good mothers. . .

There is no happiness in the whole world like the happiness in a good home. There is no service any man or woman can do for their children, for their community, for their country and for their God, compared to developing in their children the characters, the minds and souls that make good citizens.

Love doesn't come naturally to children. It has to be cultivated; nothing about a fine home atmosphere is an accident. There must be someone guiding, smoothing, helping. When father and mother are working on this plan, the ideal home results.

Children Need Guidance.

America's story is full of the goodness of book-loving, family-loving, God-fearing fathers, and of mothers who have brought actual genius to the guidance of children; guidance disguised under happy everyday living, in the garden, the kitchen, the school, the nursery.

Family love and home happiness are not merely pleasant than quarrels and coldness and separation, they are absolutely essential to the safety of a nation. Men and women who can look back to a home-protected childhood are valuable men and women. Nothing that your sacrificing or your wealth or your ingenuity can contrive for your children is worth anything at all, unless behind it is the atmosphere that develops mutual dependence and mutual help.

Most of this atmosphere is created by mother. If you happen to be Mother, it might console you, in these difficult, extravagant days to realize that you can give your children a priceless heritage at no money cost at all. The heritage of a harmonious and happy home.

Snoring Is Legal Even at Expense of Your Neighbor

LOS ANGELES.—It's perfectly legal to snore, even if it keeps the neighbors awake, according to the ruling of Byron Gentry, deputy city prosecutor.

The weighty problem was handed him by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson E. Carr, who complained that a neighbor in their apartment snored so loudly that it constituted a disturbance of peace. Gentry ruled that the snoring was not malicious.

DOLL FOR LUCK

By GENE GILBERT

PALMER soared through the sky with a light heart. He was leaving a hard life behind, years of and-to-mouth existence, years of depending on occasional charter trips and the students able to pay the high rates on his big machine. The future opened before him: He would get a new ship, one of those long-range, all metal jobs, go in for long-distance competitive races. And he would have a swell-looking girl with a pile of dough to pay the bills.

He glanced at the instrument board, saw that everything was all right. The cabin ship roared steadily over Connecticut at four thousand feet. There were scattered clouds beneath him, but not enough to hide the ground. His luck was breaking right for the first time, just right. Reaching up, he patted the mascot swinging from the roof on a length of ribbon.

It was a small doll, black of face, with two pearl buttons set in the satin for eyes, a piece of red silk stitched across the lower half of the face for a mouth. It was garbed in a loud plaid dress green and red.

That rag-stuffed little figure had been hanging in this ship for over two years. Palmer had come to believe it was lucky. The girl who had loaned him the down payment on the machine had put it there. He had met her one summer when he had been barnstorming with a small, old ship, and they had knocked around together for three months. She had been pretty sure of herself, Palmer recalled, loaned him money, talked about how "we" were going to make a fortune with the larger ship.

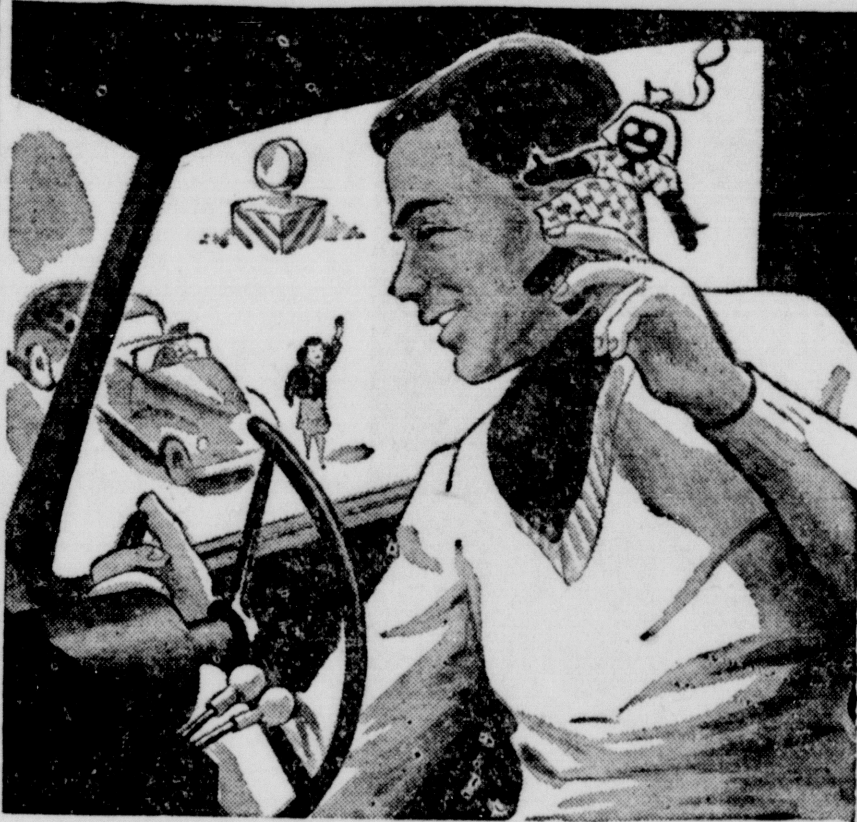

He recalled the night when they had won the doll at a small carnival, in one of the ring-toss games. He had made up his mind already to pull out sometime soon. And it had annoyed him somewhat to see her having such a gay time. But he could not tell her, there was no need to say goodbye tearfully and have her bawl and carry on in front of him.

On their way home she had insisted that they go to the field where his ship was staked down in the open, and sit in the cabin for a few minutes. She had been big, and light blonde and sentimental. Just before they had left the cabin, she had pinned the thing to the upholstery on the ceiling. "That's our luck, Eric," she had said. "As long as she's there, we'll always be safe."

Palmer had smiled, kissed her and taken her home. At dawn of the same morning, he had taken off and come East. He had never returned. Once in a while, a letter from her had caught up with him, but he had not answered. What was the use? He had intended to send her back the loan when he could. He was grateful for the help, and everything. But how could he explain without hurting her, that they were just not suited to each other?

When the letters had stopped coming, he had thought that she had understood. Then some fellow, who had known them both, had handed him a clipping, without a word. She had been killed in a crossing accident. It seemed that her car had stalled on the tracks, and that she had made no effort to get out. The fellow evidently thought she had done it on purpose. Palmer knew better. That girl had had character, she would not have done away with herself over a few hundred bucks and a broken engagement.

He had been tempted to take that doll down. Then he had reasoned that it would be, in a way, an admission of remorse. And he had nothing to blame himself for. The doll had brought him luck at last: Eleanor. She had looks and background and money. Furthermore, she had the kind of a spirit he liked, which he needed close to him. To her, a ship wasn't something to work for a small house, for an ordinary living. She enjoyed what he enjoyed, fame, her name in the papers. She loved him, all right, but she would always understand that he must take long chances.

He jerked the doll loose and tossed it out through the open side window.

AHEAD, he saw the small field where she was waiting. They would drive to her home, be married, and fly away. He tipped his left wing, banked lazily over a field. A bright spot of color detached itself from a long, sleek, dark car. Eleanor waving her scarf. That was service—already: His girl waiting for him with a sixteen cylinder bus, complete with chauffeur.

His spirits surged higher. This was a private airport, no inspector would be around, so he was safe in giving her a show. He slammed the motor full on, nosed down then hauled the ship up and over in a tight loop. He leveled off and eased her around, a few wing-overs—and level flight again.

Something caught his eye, the doll, swinging from the roof, grinning redly. He smiled and slapped it like a punching-bag a few times.

glanced at his altimeter. He still had fifteen hundred feet. One last stunt and then he could land. He circled the field once more, swung around and when he was almost over the car, shoved the throttle full on and dove in a screaming fall. The moving doll again attracted his glance.

Eleanor had tightened her lips when he had told her it was a souvenir from a dame, before he got serious with her. It might be tactful to ditch it now—scarcely the memento for a perfect honeymoon! A small sacrifice to love. He reached out, jerked it loose and tossed it out through the open side window and pulled the wheel back to neutral.

Eleanor was standing still by the side of the car, he noticed and he decided to level off. No need to frighten her. He hauled back further on the wheel. It yielded an inch—and stuck. He pulled again, harder, and the wheel stuck—the wheel stuck—

He must get her nose up, level off—he was doing better than two hundred and the ground was close. Too close . . .

Caught between the horizontal stabilizer and the counterweight for the elevators, the small black doll in the loud green and red plaid dress seemed to widen the grin of her scarlet satin mouth.

TRICKS FOR TEENS

By NANCY PEPPER

Mock Turtle.

The latest fashion to turn into a fad is the long-sleeved, turtle neck cotton knit T-shirt. You're wearing it in white only and you tie one of your shaded silk scarfs under the roll collar with the long ends hanging down in back. On the front of your turtle neck shirt you wear your trickiest pin or set of matching pins. At a CALLING ALL GIRLS fashion show held up in Stamford, Conn., we counted no less than eight of these shirts, similarly scarfed, in the first row of the audience! Your favorite teen department has the T shirts, you have the scarfs—so what are you waiting for—a date with Lon McAllister?

Time Marches On.

Oh, happy the days when dates were for eating. And happy the days when dates were for learning; But, now you're a teen, there's no retreating—

Dates are for making, breaking—and yearning.

You Said It—and You're Glad! "Well, Mock My Shodesty"—Expression of surprise which you could transpose to mean, "Well, Shock My Modesty." Only it wouldn't be so much fun that way.

"Glad to Hear it"—Your comment on any good news.

"Sad to Hear it"—Ditto on any bad news.

"Connect a Witticism"—Very formal for "pop a corny."

"That's Your Red Wagon"—That's your worry.

"Icky Bird"—New name for a drip and no relation to the Dicky Bird who announces spring in that popular song.

"T Man"—Top man, formerly known as your O. A. O.

"Once in a Red Moon"—Indicates a much longer interval than the traditional "Blue Moon."

"I Wish Your Mother Had Raised Ducks Instead"—This retort can mean only one thing; that you wish the person to whom you're talking had never been born.

"Chee Chee"—You pipe it in a mousy voice and it means "wonderful." It also means you've been spinning Rose Murphy's platters.

Well, as the man said when he followed the fire engines, "I want to see what's cooking!"

TRIXIE TEEN SAYS—

You're so engrossed in how you're going to look for this important date that you haven't given much thought to how you're going to sound. You know he's a big basket ball player; you know he's a bug for aviation; you know he's majoring in history and economics at school. They're all clues to his interests—but you haven't had time to follow one of them. Instead, you've concentrated on your clothes, your hair, your make-up. Well, you'll be pretty as a picture, all right—but haven't you heard that silent pictures are obsolete? These days, a boy prefers a picture with sound—a talky that really has something to say!

Woman's World

Proper Technique Eliminates Traditional Ironing Day Blues

By Ertta Haley

IRONING day blues are a common complaint even with all the modern aids for providing ease and saving time. Perhaps one of the contributing reasons for this is that not all women have learned how to use equipment or know short-cuts that will make the ironing easier.

If you want to save time ironing, start preparing for it while doing the washing. If, for example, you have a flat wringer, then fold sheets, towels and other flat work, so there won't be millions of wrinkles when ironing time comes along.

You also will find that shaking out the clothes before they are put on the line will save more time later than it takes to do this little task.

In fact, on a nice windy day, the tiny wrinkles left in the clothes will all be blown out and many things, if neatly folded right off the line, will not need ironing.

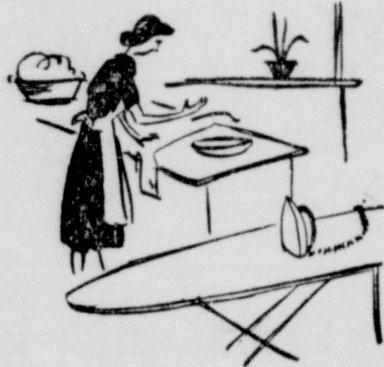

Folding before wringing and shaking out turkish towels, washcloths and mats gives them what commercial laundries mean by "fluff dry," and this cannot be improved by ironing.

Youngster's clothing, when shaken as described above, rarely will need ironing.

Even though clothing is to be ironed, it should be removed from lines and folded neatly so that extra wrinkles are not made in it.

Some Clothes Need Only Little Pressing

Some fabrics, which need only a light touch with the iron, should be set aside in separate piles. If you finish washing early, these can be lightly pressed immediately you remove them from the line, thus making

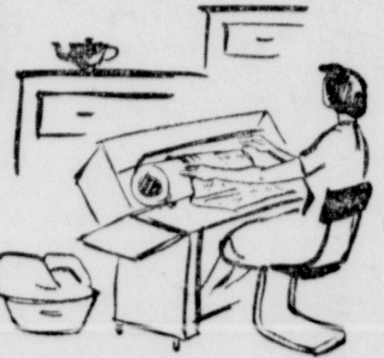

Watch temperatures for ironing . . . ing the day when you do regular ironing much lighter.

Seersuckers, corduroy play clothes, crinkle crepe clothing, jersey slips and underwear, woolen or cotton blankets, and curtains will need to be touched up lightly with the iron. When these are removed from the list of clothing to be ironed, you can easily see this does not leave too much of the hard work.

Dampening Clothes Properly Saves Time and Work

Moisture makes fabrics easier to iron because they are made more pliable. Linens and cottons, which are relatively brittle fibers, require more moisture than rayons.

Many women have not yet learned the trick of using hot instead of cold water for sprinkling. Hot water, however, penetrates the fibers more easily and evenly, and this makes the fabric slide more evenly under the iron.

Done by hand or by machine.

Garments should be folded neatly so no more wrinkles than necessary are introduced in them. Heavy

Be Smart!

That lovely lady touch is the impressive finesse of distinguished costumes. Often the best way to achieve it is through the magnificent handwork that once more is becoming important fashion-wise and generally more available, wide hemstitching, fagotting such as the model illustrates and touches of embroidery and hand beading.

Ironing Ease

Shorts are turned out on the double with a folding electric iron. One leg is placed inside the other and the shorts are ironed double thickness over the small diameter roll, as is done in flat work. When the ironer has single knee control, both hands are left free to guide the ironing through the machine.

portions such as hems and cuffs should be turned inside so they do not dry.

If you store the dampened garments in a large plastic square rather than a sheet or towel, they will keep better until ready for ironing.

It's also a good idea to knead the clothes slightly as they are rolled or folded to distribute the moisture in them more evenly.

Dampened clothes should be held for at least 30 minutes before ironing. In the cold weather they can be kept overnight, provided there is not too much dampness in the atmosphere. In warm weather, keeping them dampened for more than two or three hours may bring about mildew.

Ironing Temperatures Should Be Observed

Most irons have a gauge telling you how hot the iron should be for ironing. Use this if you do not already do so. On fabrics which you do not know about, start with a cool iron and see how it works. Work up gradually on the heat if cool and warm will not take out the wrinkles.

In general, the silks, rayons and synthetics require a warm to moderately hot iron. Wool requires a moderate temperature unless you use a damp cloth over it, in which case you may use a hotter temperature.

Light and starched cottons use a hot iron while heavy linens and cottons use the highest temperature on the iron.

It's a good idea to start the ironing with those fabrics which require low temperatures and work up to those which use the hotter temperatures. You'll save time skipping around, and also save on the fuel bill by using this more efficient method.

These same tips should be observed when you are using an automatic electric ironer. Start with the things that need warm temperatures and work upwards.

Make Easy Work Of Small Pieces

Small pieces in the weekly laundry frequently assume large proportions when it comes to ironing time.

Sheets, tablecloths and shirts usually get first attention but the smaller items such as underwear, towels and napkins as well as handkerchiefs take up the most time although most of these are fairly simply ironed, especially if you have an automatic electric ironer.

Napkins and towels are more easily ironed if you place several of them on the roller at one time. And if you can persuade daughter or son to sit alongside of you and fold these items for you as they come through after the first and second time, the task is speeded easily.

Run several handkerchiefs through at the same time also. When handkerchiefs are folded, you can run through as many as four to six or even more when you have women's handkerchiefs.

An electric ironer with a small diameter roll, open at each end, is easy to use because garments can be slipped readily over the roll for ironing. If you have a fold-away type ironer, the storage problem also is simplified.

If you are among the lucky ones who has the automatic type of ironer, learn how to iron some of the other wearables such as shirts and dresses on it. These, of course, can be finished on the regular hand iron, but time will be saved.

Wide ironing boards, even if they have to be made by hand and padded at home, will save an infinite amount of time when it comes to ironing such items as shirts and dresses, because they do not have to be moved and shifted constantly.

POT-SHOTS FROM McCAULLEY

GEORGE DARDEN

The McCauley Baptist Church is without a pastor for the first time in many years. Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Dick left last week for Crosby, Minn. where they will make their home.

Mrs. W. H. Pickron Jr. from Bossier City, Louisiana is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Darden in McCauley and her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pickron, in Hamlin.

The McCauley Gin had ginned 230 bales prior to Saturday at noon. The community is in need of pickers. If baling pullers were available and weather permitted the greater part of cotton would be harvested within 15 days.

Several people from McCauley attended the West Texas Fair in Abilene last week.

Thanks to B. F. Kemp, an old timer of this community, for a renewal to The Hamlin Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cheever visited last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Courtney. Mrs. Cheever is the former L. B. Balle of this community. The couple has been on a honeymoon trip to the west coast. Both are medical students in Madison College, Tennessee.

Sorry to learn of the illness of Starr Inzer, a friend to many in this community. We hope that Starr will soon be back home and going strong. His tireless efforts in making Hamlin a better place to live is very commendable and every community needs more civic minded men like Starr Inzer.

Twelve-year-old Walter Nash Miers of the Hobbs community, and formerly of this community, showed the junior champion female Jersey in the show at the West Texas Fair last week.

It's high time that our government get tough with Russia. It looks as if we are going to either fight or get out of Berlin and our soldiers are not in the habit of running. A few atomic bombs dropped on Moscow might get Joe Stalin in line.

Bonnie Beth Jones spent the week-end with Patsy Maberry in McMurry College, Abilene.

Comment No. 1—We have been hearing a lot about the Hamlin Hospital here of late. It seems a lot of folks are in the "air" about it. The Potshot reporter is a stockholder and naturally we are interested in seeing the hospital go over, but if all the folks get "cross ways" it's a cinch that we little guys will plunked down $50 for stock will kiss the $50 goodbye, however we have all sunk $50 or more a lot of times in life and lived over it. Other community hospitals are going over, for instance the Fisher County hospital at Roby. But the hospital at Roby employed a business manager right off and it has been run on a business like basis. The same will have to be done at Hamlin if the hospital is to succeed. It is true that those who worked hard to promote the Hamlin hospital are due a lot of credit for the promotion of it but if there is need of new blood in the setup to make a go of it then let's do what is better all concerned and put the hospital on a paying basis whether it takes a sale to private owners or continues as a stockholder setup.

All we know is that Hamlin needs a hospital and a paid manager. And most of all cooperation, and less gossip. A house divided cannot stand and no business can succeed unless it is run in a business like manner. As far as our little stock is concerned, it makes little difference whether the hospital is sold out right or made to work otherwise. We do know that Hamlin needs a hospital and we will join the majority of stockholders in coming to a final solution of the matter. —Yours, George.

Texas U Enrollment is 600 Below Last Year

Registration for the fall semester of the University of Texas will net approximately 16,700, some 600 less than the 1947 net total officials report.

Fees were paid by more than 17,000 students, but names of those who have dropped out of school since registration will bring the total down approximately 300, Byron Shipp, registrar's statistician said.

Last year's enrollment was 17,343. The drop in registration is due to the decrease in the number of veterans beginning college work, and growth of the junior college movement in Texas.

$30,000,000 State Fair Will Open Gates Saturday; 16 Days Scheduled

The $30,000,000 State Fair of Texas—billed as the largest annual exposition in the United States—will open Saturday in Dallas for another breath-taking 16-day run.

The "big berth" of the world's state fairs, which covers 187 acres, is expected to draw 2,000,000 visitors before it closes. Nearly a quarter million are expected on opening day.

Agriculture and livestock will occupy choice positions, but sharing the spotlight will be scores of entertainment features both on and off the fair's ten-acre million dollar midway.

More giveaways and free attractions will be featured than at any previous state fair.

The Five Eltons, performing on trapeze and rings 125 feet in air, will give their sky ballet twice daily, followed by the hazardous mid-air feats of Les Kimris, famous aerial gymnast. In the Auditorium Jimmy Durante and Harry James will head an all-star revue. At the grandstand will be the "Flying L" Rodeo with Jimmy Wakely, cowboy singing star. The Ice Arena will contain the third, all new edition of "Ice Cycles of 1948."

Eleven special shows and new thrill rides, including the complicated new double ferris wheel, will dot the midway, the greatest number of such attractions ever assembled in Texas.
